Tax Cut Delay Looms

Balanced Budget Still Not In Sight

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif (AP) —Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey Thursday declared the administration can make no promises of any tax reductions at all" next year except the corporation excess profits and individual income taxes.

Humphrey told reporters that the federal budget cannot be balanced, even in fiscal 1955, unless there are "very substantial" cuts in national defense outlays.

The Treasury Secretary spoke Thursday at the opening of a three-day, closed meeting here of the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council (BAC), made up of many of the nation's biggest industrial leaders.

His words to corporation chiefs were off the record, but he later told newsmen that the task of paring the 68 billion dollar federal budget has proved "very tough."

"We will have another deficit in 1955 unless we can very substantially reduce our military expenditures," he said.

"The reason it is tough is that at least 75 per cent of the expenditures of government are in the realm of security—that is, military, foreign operations and atomic energy.

"In addition, half the remainder is in fixed items like interest on the national debt and long term programs like aid to veterans."

'Small Part'

What remains, in the form of current government expenditures, subject to pruning in the economy drive, is "a small part of the total."

Making heavy cuts in the national security program, he emphasized, raises "a very serious problem," the problem of providing just as much security with less money.

Humphrey said that President Eisenhower's request last May for extension of the present 52 per cent corporation tax rate still stands, although the law calls for a 5 point reduction by April 1.

Under questioning, Humphrey said he also could not promise any cuts in the high emergency excise tax rates, some of which are scheduled for automatic reduction on the same date.

The excess profits tax will expire on Dec. 31, the same date on which individual income tax reductions will take effect.

Also here for the BAC sessions were Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Secretary of the Army Stevens.

Shies Away From Name Calling

Julius La Rosa says that Arthur Godfrey had "no bona fide reason" for firing him as he talked Thursday night to newsmen in a Washington hotel. The 23-year-old singing star was dismissed last Monday by Godfrey who said La Rosa didn't demonstrate proper "humility." In Washington for benefit performances, La Rosa said he wasn't going to engage in any name-calling battle with Godfrey because "two wrongs don't make a right." The young singer who has had lucrative bids since he was fired, is under a five year contract with Columbia Broadcasting System. (AP Wirephoto Thursday Night.)

U.S. Quits Sea Rescue Program

International Air Officials Shocked

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States said Thursday it is quitting the U.N.-sponsored weather report and air-sea rescue program in the North Atlantic. The decision came as a shock to international air officials and to operators of American trans-Atlantic airlines.

The United States has supplied 14 of 25 ships used in relays to operate 10 "floating ocean stations" spotted along trans-Atlantic air routes. They are credited with having saved hundreds of lives.

A U.S. letter to the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) said the ships—Coast Guard vessels—would be withdrawn from the rescue stations by June 30 because the program cost more than it was worth.

However, State Department officials in Washington said cost was not necessarily the main factor in the decision to pull out. The ICAO said it cost the United States about $978,000 a year to operate each of the 14 ships.

The State Department said technical advances in aviation made it unnecessary to continue the constant weather checks.

No Longer Required

The U.S. letter, signed by Harold A. Jones, U.S. representative to ICAO, said the United States "as the result of a survey just concluded has determined that the services provided by the ocean stations in the north Atlantic are no longer required by the United States and that the benefits derived by the United States are no longer comensurate with the cost."

"The government of the United States sincerely regrets the necessity of this action and hopes that no serious inconvenience or hardship will be cause those signatory states which may not have reached comparable conclusions," the letter said.

Although weather reporting is the ships' main work, U. N. officials said they had built up an "enviable record" in rescue work. The vessels have saved several hundred persons from the Atlantic, including the passengers and crews of a non-scheduled flying boat and three military planes as well as shipwrecked persons from more than half a dozen surface craft, they said.

Dakotan Hits 'Vague' Farm Policy And Costly 'Give-Away' Program

Hall Wants Help Of Eisenhower In '54 Campaign

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Milton R. Young (R-ND) Thursday aimed a double blast at the Eisenhower administration in attacking what he described as its "vague" farm policy and its costly "give-away" foreign aid programs.

Both are highly unpopular in the Midwest, Young said.

Caustically applauding President Eisenhower's decision not to stump for Republican Party members in state and congressional campaigns, Young said in a statement:

"It will help the Republicans greatly in the Midwest."

Eisenhower set forth his hands-off policy at his news conference Wednesday, declaring he does not intend to use the presidency to help sway partisan elections.

Sen. Young

However, Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee said after a White House visit Thursday he is certain the President will support the Republican Party, in some degree, in next year's congressional campaign.

Needs GOP Congress

"I think the suport he will give will be general," Hall told newsmen. "I think his role as President will be to tell the country what his administration has done.

"And in doing that, he will naturally be supporting the Republican Party because he must have a Republican Congress to carry out his programs."

Asked whether the President might limit his participation to a few speeches from Washington instead of going out on the stump, Hall replied:

"I think his TV programs were wonderful. I don't think anyone has discussed whether there will be any (campaign) trips or not."

Rep. Halleck (R-Ind), House Majority Floor Leader, told newsmen he believes the President will at least speak out from Washington in favor of Republican candidates generally, even if he doesn't campaign actively in the grass roots.

Outnumbered In Senate

GOP leaders pointed out that the Republicans, now outnumbered by the Democrats 48-47 in the Senate and holding a bare majority in the House, can ill afford any losses in the 1954 congressional elections.

Sen. Young, in a statement dictated to his office here, indicates he thought Eisenhower's no-campaign policy would be a boon—rather than a drawback—to GOP candidates in the Midwest farm belt.

"It is in the Midwest," Young said, "where the administration's lack of farm policy and their multi-billion dollar glorified Truman give-away foreign programs are very unpopular."

Young, who recently demanded the resignation of Secretary of Agriculture Benson, said Thursday Benson has lost the confidence of the nation's farmers and has hurt the Republicans.

"If the present Republican administration has a farm policy, I certainly do not know what it is, nor, I believe, does anyone else," Young said.

"This is a sad state of affairs after having been in office nearly 10 months."

Even as Young let fly with his critical barbs, there were these developments bearing on the farm situation:

New Developments

1. The White House announced the President will confer at luncheon Friday with his top farm advisers, including Secretary Benson.

2. The President's National Agricultural Advisory Commission began a three-day closed session to consider recommendations for new farm law.

3. The Agriculture Department announced its buying program to bolster sagging cattle prices reached a new peak this week, with the award of new contracts to buy 20,238,946 pounds of hamburger and canned beef.

Altogether, about 530,000 head of cattle will be required to provide meat purchased under the program so far.

4. Secretary Benson arranged to meet next Tuesday with a delegation of livestock producers who are urging some form of government action to raise cattle prices.

Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) said in a speech at Paducah, Tex., that Benson's farm policies are ruining farmers and "the administration should get a new secretary."

Basin REA Meeting Votes To Demand GOP Policy Halt

OMAHA (AP) — Rural electric officials from 10 Missouri River Basin states voted unanimously here Thursday to ask President Eisenhower to postpone until Jan. 1, 1955, putting into effect the new federal power policy and marketing criteria.

The action climaxed a meeting here of nearly 90 power representatives. They decided, that as an alternative, should the President deny their request to postpone the effective day of the policy, they should seek an injunction to keep it from going into effect as scheduled Jan. 1, 1954.

A spokesman said principal objections raised to the criteria and policy were:

That rural electric co-operatives and public power districts cannot be assured of future power needs.

That increases in power costs by contracting provision are unreasonable and uncalled for.

That present contracts with the bureau will be cancelled unless new penalty contract provisions are accepted by the rural electric districts.

The officials also unanimously agreed that "an appeal should be made to Congress to spell out carefully the law governing the sale of public power and to instruct the Interior Department to conduct the sale of power in accord with Congressional intent."

The appeal to Eisenhower is expected to be made by a large delegation of rural electric directors and members.

Named to a committee to make arrangements for a meeting with the President were A. C. Hauffe, Leola, S. D.; L. N. Wagers, Brush, Colo., and George Lackman, Billings, Mont.

At a luncheon Thursday noon, Kenneth Holum, Groton, S. D., a member of the Missouri Basin Survey Commission, reviewed the findings of that body.

Holum said "that feasibility of rural electricity in the basin is entirely dependent on abundant low cost power."

A basin-wide committee named to carry on the work outlined at the meeting included Elton Trowbridge, Saratoga, Wyo.; Helge E. Nygren, Flasher, N. D.; Jack Davis, Hutchinsone, Kan.; LeRoy C. Sabie, Pipeston, Minn.; Hauffe; Lewis E. Amdned, Rocky Ford, Colo.; Harold Ebaugh, Harve, Mont.; Gerald Boediker, Parnell, Mo.; Alfred A. Schmillen, Marcus, Ia.; and Dale Erlewine, Ogallala, Neb.

At the morning session, before an agenda was set up representatives of the various state groups outlined their objections to the new power policy and offered suggestions for changing it.

Principal objections were:

The new contracting arrangement which permits private power companies to contract for power generated by Missouri River projects for 20 years without the "recapture clause" to reclaim the power for use of preference public power consumers when needed.

Increased rates—both those expected to be announced soon by the Interior Department and additional power costs to result from contracting provisions in the new criteria.

Charles E. Ham of Sidney, Neb., representing the Wheat Belt Electric Co-operative, said the new marketing criteria would boost his organization's costs by $100,000 yearly.

Elton Trowbridge, president of the Carlton Power and Light co-operative, Saratoga, Wyo., contended the new criteria would wreck the majority of the co-operatives in that state. He also criticized Congressional delegations who support legislation favorable to rural electric groups in their own states but do not support it in others.

Virgil T. Hanlon of The East River Electric Co-operative, Madison, S.D., suggested that the Bureau of Reclamation be urged to start planning for steam or other thermal generation of power to supplement hydro-electric power from the main stem dams in the Missouri Basin program. He contended that without these supplementary means of generating power, the hydroelectric output cannot be made firm-uninterrupted-power.

Dr. Burnham

Kline's appointment was made by the executive committee of the association and was announced by Dr. Glenn Hildreth of Chadron, president of NSEA.

He has rare capacity for leadership in this organization. I am willing to stake my professional reputation on a prediction that he will more than make good."

The association president, Dr. Hildreth, said, "The future will prove the executive committee's good judgment in selecting Don Kline as executive secretary. He is worth the confidence of every member of the association."

"I feel that Nebraska and Nebraska teachers in particular are indeed fortunate in being able to secure a man of his stature for this very important position," said Freeman B. Decker, superintendent of public instruction, when informed of Kline's appointment. "He will have a big job to do, but I know that with the cooperation of this state and its teachers he can do that job."

Dean F. E. Henzlik of the University of Nebraska Teachers College said:

"Kline is a young man with a pleasing personality, excellent character and keen mind. He has been most successful in his work as a teacher and as an organizer in the university. He is a good public speaker and makes friends wherever he goes.

Drought-Aid Plea Is Acted On, But How Remains A Mystery

The Nebraska drought-aid merry-go-round continued its circular course Thursday night, caught in the whirl of government red tape.

It was R. L. Farrington, Secretary of Agriculture Benson's right-hand man, who answered an inquiry on the status of the state's plea and only added to the spinning problem.

Farrington, the Associated Press reported, said the Agriculture Department's drought committee "had acted" on the Nebraska request, but he declined to say which way it acted.

Farrington added that the committee's report has been sent to the Civil Defense agency—under the direction of former Gov. Val Peterson—"which will pass the report on to the White House where a decision should be announced in a day or two."

The whole business got its start on Sept. 28 when Gov. Crosby sent a telegram to President Eisenhower asking that Hitchcock County — laboring through its second bone-dry year—be included in the emergency drought area.

Word was promptly flashed to the state that the request had been received and that it had been forwarded to Civil Defense Director Peterson for investigation and recommendations.

Then Peterson reported that he had asked further advice from the Department of Agriculture. But last week in Kansas City, Farrington was reported as saying that he had not heard of Nebraska's appeal for assistance.

Peterson Wednesday promised that his office was doing all it could to speed action on the plea and Farrington announced he would have a report by late Wednesday or Thursday morning.

No Word

But the Governor's office said late Thursday that no word had been received from Washington so Farrington was contacted again and gave his promised report—that Nebraska's request has started on its trip back home.

In Nebraska Ed Hoyt, state director of agriculture, who farms in the McCook area, said that sufficient rain from now on would not completely solve the problem in the drought area. He explained that cattle raisers are attempting to hang on to their foundation herds and need feed to do so.

"Rain would bring the wheat up, but there wouldn't be enough growth to make fall pasture," he explained. "It makes a big difference whether you pay $35 or $80 a ton for hay when it takes a pound and a half per day per animal to carry them through."

In states where drought aid has been granted, farmers have been able to buy feed at considerably reduced prices.

Five Injured In Head-On Auto Crash

Five persons were injured but all were reported in "good condition" at Bryan Memorial Hospital early Friday morning as a result of a two car head-on collision at 48th and Martin Thursday night.

Drought-Hit Texas Gets Heavy Rains

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — The heaviest rains in three years fell Thursday in the drought-hit south plains and panhandle of Texas.

Jubilant farmers watched their fields transformed to lakes. Some roads were completely inundated, and at Spur and Dickens high water forced some evacuations.

Torrential rains also fell along a 110-mile stretch of the Rio Grande watershed, and in North Texas in the Wichita Falls and Vernon areas.

The rains in the South plains, which included much of the long-arid areas declared eligible for federal drought aid, began falling about daylight and continued all day. Late Thursday night they appeared to be letting up.

Wayward Signal Causes Pacific-Wide Scramble

By JACK BURBY

HONOLULU (INS)—A wayward radio signal Thursday turned a routine Coast Guard rescue training exercise into a wild Pacific-wide air-sea rescue operation for a "ditching aircraft" that didn't exist.

The message, meant to signal the start of a rescue drill by a training detachment aboard the Coast Guard cutter Winnebago tied up in Honolulu, "leaked" by a freak of electronics and set off the Navy, Air Force and Coast Guard search.

According to the message a transport aircraft with 64 men, women and children as passengers had ditched near the Coast Guard weather ship on duty at station "Nan," 680 miles west of San Francisco.

The message was to have been confined to the Winnebago. It was sent from the radio room of the cutter into a "dummy antenna."

Coast Guard officials said, however, that "re-radiation" or leakage bounced the signal over to a newly installed antenna on the ship and a weak signal was broadcast.

The signal was heard by a radioman aboard an airplane over the Honolulu airport and by several other stations in Hawaii.

The panic was on.

The word was spread.

At Pearl Harbor the Navy set its air-sea rescue machinery in motion.

The Coast Guard in San Francisco broadcast an alert.

The Air Force at Travis Air Force base in California got word from two of its planes out over the Pacific and instructed them to go down under the overcast to search for the "ditched" aircraft.

And on the Winnebago the men of the Coast Guard training detachment went about their rescue drill without ever leaving the dock at Sand Island and all unaware of the furore their wayward radio signal had caused.

Reds Flee Advance Of French

City Deserted By Crack Vietminh Unit

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — French Union troops captured the deserted city of Phu Nho Quan Thursday and stabbed into the nearby entrenchments of Vietminh Division 320, only to find their quarry had fled.

A French Army spokesman said there was "no major contact" in this phase of an offensive launched south of the French-held Red River delta a week ago.

The Ivetminh Division, rated as one of the Communist-led rebels' best, retreated into the surrounding mountains as the French Vietnamese troops and armored columns advanced.

The 5,000 people of Phu Nho Quan had been evacuated earlier by the Vietminh.

The French apparently waited too long to have a crack at Phu Nho Quan, regarded as one of the Vietminh's major supply centers.

The Vietminh had ample time to prepare their retreat, since they knew the French were operating just south of the town.

Gen. Rene Cogny, French commander of northern Indochina, earlier had said he cared nothing about taking Phu Nho Quan, but wanted the Vietnamese division to come out and fight.

News Around The Globe

200 Feared Dead

REGGIO CALABRIA, Italy (Friday) (AP)—New torrents of rain poured down early today on the deluged toe of the Italian boot, tumbling more flooded homes and boosting the death total to at least 80. Perhaps as many as 200 are dead.

Many of the victims were children.

Ike To Campaign

WASHINGTON (INS) — Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall declared at the White House Thursday he is "certain" President Eisenhower will speak for the GOP during next year's crucial congressional election campaign.

Hall made the statement after conferring with Mr. Eisenhower, who told his news conference Wednesday that he would shun any partisan role in the 1954 contests for the 435 House seats and 35 Senate posts.

A-Cannon Backed

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Military leaders including Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens, said here Thursday that the atomic canon and other new weapons have helped bring U. S. forces in Europe to a high state of readiness.

Stevens, addressing the annual convention of the National Guard Association, added that the cannon, which fires either atomic or conventional shells, would permit close support of ground troops "in darkness or in any kind of weather."

POW Talk Fails

PANMUNJOM, Friday (AP) — The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission met for two hours today, discussed the problem of getting balky North Korean prisoners to attend Red "explanations," but made no report of progress.

Another meeting was scheduled for tomorrow.

The Communist Polish and Czech delegates on the commission have demanded that force be used to bring the Korean POWs before the Red interviewers. The Swedish, Swiss and Indian delegates have opposed this.

Envoy In Tokyo

TOKYO (Friday) (INS)—U.S. Special Ambassador Arthur H. Dean, heading a mission charged with setting up a Korean peace conference, arrived at Haneda airport today.

Dean led a seven-man team representing the 16 United Nations that waged war in Korea. He arrived amid speculation that the Communists at Panmunjom will refuse to discuss the time and date of the proposed main talks unless the United States is willing to talk about the composition of the conference.

California Editor Dead

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego Union Thursday was notified officially that the body of one of the victims of Monday's plane crash near Monterrey, Mexico, had been identified as that of J. Clifford Safley, 59, the Union's editor.

In PURSUIT of HAPPINESS

By J. GORDON ROBERTS

Doctor Bossodi concludes the remarks quoted:

"To make it possible for mankind generally to live this normal life, all our institutions must be re-organized to equip us with the means and with the skills necessary to its realization. Our schools and universities, our theaters and publications, our civic and financial institutions, our laws and customs must be organized so as to make it possible for every family to acquire the land and the equipment, and every individual the vision and the techniques, necessary to live this life successfully.

"Nothing less than this should be our goal. No reform and no movement, no matter how desirable and how important in itself, can by itself provide it. Political reform, social reform, land reform, monetary reform, conservation, cooperation, world-wide peace—none of these reforms nor all of them put together, can provide it.

"It is the greatest proof of the error of Marxism that it assumes that the abolition of private property and the holding of all things in common, will provide the good life. If everything that is apparently essential to the good life is provided and one thing only is missing—if everything except right education of the individual is provided; if everything is provided except an adequate philosophy of living—it will be just a question of time until we are back in the same confusion, surrounded by the same evils, and suffering the same heartbreaks with which mankind is now confronted.

"The good life, then, is a life devoted to learning how to organize the means, and learning to use them after they have been acquired, so that gradually all of mankind, individual by individual, family by family, and community by community, begins to live like normal human beings."

Aged Group Hikes Nursing Home Boon

Nursing and convalescent homes are coming into prominence with the increasing number of persons living to old age, Frank C. Bateman of Springfield, O., told members attending the Nebraska Association of Licensed Nursing Home Operators convention Thursday night.

Bateman, executive director of the American Association of Nursing Homes, and editor of the Nursing Home Journal, said that with the present type of living older persons do not fit into normal home life as they did a generation ago.

The need for nursing home service will never be met if the present trend toward advancing age continues, he said.

Convalescent homes, Bateman said, make possible the care of the long-term ill persons without the impossible financial responsibilities of hospitalization, he said.

Increasing attention is being given to the safety and means of quick evacuation of nursing home patients, he said.

The American Association has grown to include 26 states since its founding four years ago, he said. Nebraska, which was one of the first state associations, is holding its fifth annual convention.

Approximately 100 persons registered for the two-day convention Thursday morning. Luncheon speaker was Dr. H. H. Whitlock who discussed "What a Physician Expects of a Nursing Home."

The afternoon session featured a panel discussion of what was expected of nursing homes. J. E. Stout, vice president of the Nebraska association, served as moderator. Panel members were:

Mayme Stukel, state director of public welfare.

E. C. Iverson, state fire marshall.

Dr. James T. Gooke, city health director.

F. M. Libershal, engineer, hospital division, State Department of Health.

William McDermet, Lancaster County welfare director.

Mrs. Hulda Roper, Lincoln Police Department.

Mrs. James Morrison, representing family of a patient.

Mrs. Frieda Hetherington, R. N., Lincoln Health Department.

Frieda Roerden, R. N., nurse consultant, hospital division, State Department of Health.

T. M. Skinner, sanitation inspector, Lincoln health Department.

Officers will be elected at the Friday morning session. Dr. Garnet Larson, associate professor of social work at the University of Nebraska, will be luncheon speaker.

Armory Named After Pershing

The Gen. John G. Pershing Armory is now the official name of the new U.S. Army Reserve building being completed at 33rd and Hitchcock. Authorization from Fifth Army Headquarters in Chicago was received Thursby Maj. Frederick R. Huck, senior adviser of the Lincoln Reserve Headquarters.

Maj. Huck said a dedication service and open-house will be held when the building is completed sometime between Dec. 15 and Jan. 15.

The $300,000 structure will house Lincoln Reserve units and the Lincoln Army Reserve Headquarters.

Painting Presented To Historical Society

A painting of the Nebraska Press Association building at Crete, reputed to be the first weekly press building in the United States, has been given to the Nebraska State Historical Society. Marvin Kivett, museum director, inspects the oil reproduction painted by Jack Tobias for the 50th anniversary of re-dedication of the building in 1935. The painting was given to the historical society by its original owner, C. D. Blauvelt, former editor and publisher of the Crete News. (Star Photo.)

The Role Reversed

In 1918 the late Woodrow Wilson in the stress of a war and an impending fight for the League of Nations asked the American people to give him a Congress with whom he could work. Wilson's appeal did not conform to orthodox conceptions of politics.

He was bitterly assailed by his critics—for the most part by the Republicans. An angry growl came from the Republican party press, a growl that ended in a snarl.

His plea was rejected.

There was an echo of it in the news columns Wednesday. Mr. Eisenhower announced in connection with the 1954 congressional elections that it was not his purpose to take any part in local contests. In other words, he did not plan to lend the prestige of the great office he occupies to the contests for seats in the House or the Senate. If the President's decision is rooted in what could be described as smart politics, then his decision is sound. Mr. Eisenhower senses that the vote he received in November of 1952 was not strictly a Republican party vote. And from a historical background, he should also know that any attempt on the part of the Republican National Committee to drag him away from Washington to various sections of the country to speak in behalf of Republican candidates for Congress could be at best a very hazardous gamble.

It would be a gamble both in respect to achieving the results hoped for—and a gamble upon public reaction. Mr. Eisenhower would have very little if anything to show for his months in office had it not been for an amazing degree of Democratic party support in his legislative battles. His own party has given him infinitely more trouble on controversial legislation than the loyal opposition. Had it not been for the Democrats, Mr. Eisenhower might have found himself in the position of an abrupt termination of the reciprocal trading agreement. Had it not been for the Democrats, Mr. Eisenhower might have been out of luck on his announced tax policy, particularly with respect to the excess profits tax expiration.

Many of the newspapers now moaning and shedding great tears over the tragedy that would result from the failure to give the President a substantial majority in both branches of Congress were the same papers which back in 1918 so savagely criticized the late Woodrow Wilson in his plea for a Democratic Congress. Their editors seem to have forgotten what in righteous spirit they wrote then.

A Word For It

Not too many years ago we came upon a man whose distinguished public career had made his name a household word in millions of American homes He was intently examining a small product intended to contribute greater efficiency and safety to the airplane.

He called attention to a step in the production of this particular item where the merest fraction of a fraction of an inch was the all-important consideration. It was strange, indeed, that a man who had fought great battles for what he believed to be in the public interest should be devoting time to something far removed from his everyday field. But he was that kind of a man. He never embarked upon a study of any kind until he had satisfied his own curiosity. He wanted to know the full facts. And in the field of legislation to which he devoted his life, he had a set practice that he would undertake no more than that which he could get around—or that to which he could devote months of research in preparation for the fight ahead.

Arthur Godfrey had a word for it. He charged that one of his young associates had lost that refreshing quality of humility — a charge which promptly brought a denial. We have no knowledge whether the charming, unspoiled young singer has lost the common touch to which Mr. Godfrey referred—that is strictly a matter between the two—but the quality of humility could relieve a tormented world of much tension today.

In the educational field particularly, it should be so highly prized.

Each year we are turning out hundreds of thousands of youngsters hoping to take a place and to make themselves of use in the world. They are a wonderful generation of young men and young women — so high-spirited, so filled with enthusiasm, reflecting as they do the superior advantages which have been theirs. But education does not stop with the diploma from a great university or college. That is only the beginning. What happens in the years ahead is infinitely more important than what took place in the restricted atmosphere of the college campus. College should create the great overpowering desire to know—to study—to add to the individual's storehouse of knowledge each year. Never should even a single year end without the individual's being a little better informed than he or she was 12 months previously.

And if that is the spirit that motivates each day, then invariably it bestows upon every man and woman the foundation for a genuine sense of humility. Our problems are so varied. Our world gives us such a pressing invitation to reflection and research.

Very few newspapermen today are unaware of the fact that if the number of hours for study were doubled, still the day would be all too short.

Of Men And Things

Ezra Taft Benson, the American people were told by the President of the United States Wednesday, is a "dedicated man." It is not unreasonable if the question is asked: "Dedicated to what?" No one, not even Mr. Benson's most severe critics, have questioned the man's sterling qualities of character, his deeply religious spirit, his conscientious endeavor to discharge the heavy burdens of the office he occupies in the Eisenhower cabinet.

Mr. Benson, the President explained, is anxious that both consumer and producer get fair treatment, a laudable objective. While there may be those out on the farm to question that it is the secretary of agriculture's duty to be looking after the interests of the consumer, certainly general welfare suggests that both groups should be kept in mind. What stares Mr. Benson squarely in the face, however — not only Mr. Benson but the President as well—is the fact that the consumer's living costs have not declined proportionately with the decline in prices of commodities which the farmer produces. The farmer is not only a producer of food but he, too, is also a consumer. He has many wants to fill—wants which can be satisfied only by a continuing purchase power on his part. This debate that has arisen over Eisenhower farm policy, it seems to us, is a little bit bigger than the question of whether the President will retain the voting strength he enjoyed in farm areas, or lose thousands of votes there? Some of the Eisenhower press sharply critical of Secretary Benson seem to have no more logical reason for voicing the demand that Secretary Benson be fired than that he will cost the President votes if Benson is permitted to remain in office.

Oil On Mounting Flames

Is there nothing else to it than the loss or retention of votes? Is there a farm problem, a problem of concern to every American citizen since no single segment of this country can suffer without other groups ultimately sharing in misfortune? If that is all that the Eisenhower press sees in any of this business, then we better toss our hands in the air and call it a day. We have reached the point where the farm program is to be settled solely on the basis of politics. Surely there is a right and a wrong approach. The purpose of the price support program was to place the farmer on an equality with tariff supported industry.

These were the years dedicated, so we were told, to the "great crusade." These were the years when principles of sound political morality were to prevail. The farmer provides a great market for American industry. The farmer, when he has money in his pocket buys home furnishings, clothes, electrical goods, shoes for the members of his family, uncounted items, all contributing to the volume of American trade. He is a consumer, whatever the President may have had in mind when he brushed aside the newsmen with the statement that Mr. Benson is a "dedicated man" anxious that both consumers and producers get fair treatment. The farmer has seen the prices for what he produces decline 11 per cent in a few short months. The farmer has seen the prices of the things which he might buy drop very little, if at all; and in many cases he has seen the prices of commodities he must buy actually advance. It is this unbalance—this increasing discrepancy in farm income and farm cost—that has pushed the farm rebellion to the front.

Too Much Political Approach

It should not be difficult for an overburdened man in the White House to recognize what has been taking place in recent months. Farm income is down for a variety of reasons. The drop has been sharp in recent months. Farm costs are up. That is what farm spokesmen are talking about today chiefly.

Public Works

A recession-fearing administration has its economic advisers at work on ways and means for maintaining full employment and national stability in event the dreaded slowdown comes. Relaxed credit, a softer dollar, tax reduction, stepped-up government buying of hard goods to hold industrial employment levels, and public works are all getting the thoughtful eye and no doubt each in its way would do a measure of good if the need develops.

But least evaluated at this time is public works. And that is an activity that should be receiving major attention. As a stimulant for employment it has major recommendations. And that can be coupled with relatively low costs.

From a national security point of view, the public development of electric power, highway building, soil conservation, flood control and kindred activities rank in vital importance with armament. They also contribute to more abundant living and add to the capital value of a nation. More earnest thought should be given to such federal activities. And less patience should be extended government administrators who are shortsidedly working to take the government out of all that kind of business. They are men who see but dimly.

Bright Prospect

A Louisville, Ky., burglar, going about his business, got his head caught in a door and had to yell for the police to rescue him. That same thing is going to happen to Malenkov one of these days.

Signal Corps Leaks Warned Decade Ago

WASHINGTON—Mike Di Salle, the ex-price administrator, was talking to Adlai Stevenson, the ex-candidate for President.

"If you're seen so much with Margaret Truman," chided Di Salle, "people are going to start talking."

"I hope they do," replied Adlai.

John Foster Dulles outfoxed a federal judge when he flew to London instead of going with Ike to the Mexican border. U. S. District Judge Ben Rice had issued an order for Dulles to appear in federal court Oct. 19—the date Eisenhower dedicated the Falcon Dam—and "show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for failure to obey the order of this court of June 5, 1953.". . . The order of June 5 required Dulles to admit Kok Jon Gong, an American citizen of Chinese ancestry, barred by the U. S. consul in Hong Kong from coming to testify at his own U. S. citizenship hearing . . . Dulles had expected to go to Falcon Dam and a U. S. marshal expected to serve him. But Dulles flew to London to see Churchill instead . . . The Kok Jon Gong case is important because it sets a precedent for Americans of Chinese ancestry; which was why Judge Rice took the unusual step of citing the secretary of state for possible contempt. . . The 24-room mansion in which Gov. Shivers entertained the Eisenhowers was built by the former regional public works administrator under Roosevelt. John H. Shary, father-in-law of Gov. Shivers, built the mansion to house Iowa-Nebraska prospects who came on special trains to buy land. Shary was a big real-estate promoter; also spent millions for PWA.

SIGNAL CORPS LEAKS

Joe McCarthy will almost drop dead when he reads this, but in my opinion he is absolutely right in probing the leak of Signal Corps radar secrets at Fort Monmouth, N. J. Furthermore he is absolutely right in saying that the leaks go back about 10 years. Actually they go back even further.

Joe has forgotten it, but three years ago I testified before a Senate committee that 12 drawers of irreplaceable records giving dates and details of radar development mysteriously disappeared from Fort Monmouth in 1946. The Army immediately issued a denial.

Entirely aside from the 12 drawers, there was also evidence of leaks to Russia, however, and I personally reported this to the Army and warned that one technician born in Russia working in the Signal Corps bore watching.

Six years ago—Dec. 19, 1947—this column also published facts regarding the use of radar secrets by the Radio Corporation of America. RCA had no connection whatsoever with leaks to Soviet Russia, and I'm sure the last thing RCA officials would do would be to condone use of radar patents by the Communists. However, the pre-Pearl Harbor leak to RCA showed, first of all, sloppy security by the Signal Corps. Second, RCA proceeded to file application for radar patents in foreign countries, including prewar Japan, where they became available to foreign powers. At that time radar was the most priceless secret the Army had.

What happened was that RCA hired one of the Signal Corps' top experts on radar, William D. Hershberger; then in 1937 proceeded to use some of the discoveries made by Hershberger for the Army and apply for radar patents in Japan and Australia. Patents were also filed in the U. S. Patent Office—all this at a time when Hitler was invading Austria and later Czechoslovakia, and when it was apparent to every competent newsman that war was inescapable.

The Signal Corps was so flabbergasted at RCA's action in using the Army—Hershberger secrets to file for radar patents, especially in Japan, then a potential enemy of the U. S. A., that some signal corps officers wanted to take action against RCA. It was believed, however, that such action would only serve to spotlight the importance of the sensational new discovery whereby an electronic eye could detect invisible shapes in the distance. So the Signal Corps delayed action.

After the war was over, however, Maj. Gen. Harry Ingles, then chief of the Signal Corps, wrote RCA protesting that it had violated not only the Army's radar patent, but also security, by applying for radar patents in foreign countries. To use the official words of the Army:

"Gen. Ingles . . . wrote RCA authorities expressing a belief in government rights to the impulse generator patents; pointing out that there was some question of violation of security in that the impulse generator applications had been distributed to foreign affiliates of RCA, and that it appeared information contained in the impulse generator applications was similar to secret information to which Mr. Hershberger might have had access while working in signal corps laboratories."

It had been sent to the Justice Department, where it was mulled over by attorneys for some years. In the end nothing happened.

The Army has issued all sorts of alibis to condone and excuse its laxity and still seems to be issuing alibis. However, the important point is that the Signal Corps did not crack down on an American corporation for sending the most priceless military secret we had to Japan before the war.

Japanese Prime Minister Yoshida's personal representative, sent here to negotiate a military assistance pact, has been kicked from one minor bureaucrat to another. So far he hasn't talked to anyone who knows enough about Japan to discuss the problem intelligently. As a result, Yoshida will come to Washington himself to see what progress he can make on a pact that was America's idea in the first place.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Eisenhower Prefers Non-Partisan View

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower at his press conference left no doubt that his concept of the office of the presidency is radically different from that of any other man in recent history to occupy the White House. He considers himself a non-partisan President. And if his words are taken literally, he will have no part in next year's congressional campaign.

The words seemed clear enough. He said he had no intention, when he was asked about the '54 contest, of getting into any partisan campaign.

Then a question was put about the governorship race in Virginia where the Republicans think that for the first time in history they have a chance to defeat the Democratic candidate. With some impatience the President said he was not — he repeated not—going out into these things that are strictly local.

This will be very sad news to Chairman Leonard Hall of the Republican National Committee. Hall has made no secret of his intention to rely heavily on the President's drawing power in the campaign that will be at its hottest one year hence. Republican strategists have talked about keeping the President out in the country speech-making just as much as possible with an appeal to the voters to return Republican majorities to Congress that will give the President a much safer margin for his program.

Mr. Eisenhower went on to say that he considered himself President of all the people even though he was elected by only a part of the population. He would do all that he could to help in the adoption of measures for the well-being of all Americans. On that record he would stand, ignoring partisanship.

That is a noble theory of the office. But so far as political practice goes it is, to say the least, dubious. Of the many hats that a President must traditionally wear, one is that of the leader of his party. He must actively participate in politics or he is likely to find himself with out any political support even among his own adherents. This may be wrong, as the President appears to feel, but it is nevertheless the hard fact.

Mr. Eisenhower is correct, of course, in suggesting that virtually every congressional contest tends to turn on local issues. The congressman must try to cure the disaffection in his own district whether it be the result of slipping farm prices or the closing down of a military installation with people thrown out of employment as a consequence. But in almost every instance, the local issue relates to national policy and it is at this point that the head of a national administration can hardly expect to avoid involvement in the politics of a congressional campaign.

A very good case can be made against these biennial elections that compel every member of the House to seek re-election. This means you hardly take your seat before you must start to campaign again. It means that a new administration in office less than two years is put to the test of defending its accomplishments, or lack of them, in that short trial run.

Proposals have been put forward for a four-year term for members of the House, thereby doing away with elections in the off years. But until the Constitution is amended, such elections must be held. And the head of the party will find it hard to ignore the intensive contest that seems certain to develop next year.

An impression has grown in recent weeks of President Eisenhower's aloofness. The circle of those who talk with him and from whom he can get more or less candid counsel and guidance seems to have grown smaller.

Almost inevitably something like this happens to the prisoner in the White House. President Truman has recorded how from his first days in office he felt shut away from the give and take of ordinary life. To an increasing degree he allowed himself to be walled off by his cronies who had their own selfish interest in keeping out others. This was a tragic aspect of the Truman administration with dire political consequences as certain of the palace guard took advantage of their position.

More than most Presidents, the man now in the White House needs to sound as wide a range of opinion as possible. The dinners the President has given from time to time include the heads of most of America's large corporations and now and then a union leader. They can give the President helpful background and advice. But they are not all of America.

Mr. Eisenhower knows the kind of President he wants to be—an impartial leader governing by broad appeal to reason and righteousness. But whether it is possible to be that kind of President under the American system is another matter.

Frost On The Punkin'—In The Deep Freeze

By MONA B. PARKER

The men around the house will find good argument ammunition in what happened at the Lester Eastwood home near Pawnee City. Farmer Eastwood had a total of three broken storm windowns and one shattered storm door to take to town in his truck for repairs. The column-writing wife of the household explained for the benefit of those who may have deduced an earthquake, an explosion or a good old family row, that the door fell prey to a violent gust of wind and the windows were baseball casualties. Putter-offers will agree among themselves that this is what comes of being prematurely industrious.

The duck-and-goose-hunting season is officially under way, but few hunters in the Kearney area have been inclined to try their luck. One hunter explained: "In past years, there was enough water around our blind so that we could fish if the hunting was poor. Right now we can't do either. The water still is 75 yards from our blind."

A Hastings man is considering building some sort of blind for reportedly scarce birds in his own back yard. He observed "six fat, juicy looking quail" in his garden one morning.

Along the Middle Loup is an old barber chair for any angler who wants to take his complete ease . . . and Clyde Stone of Lyons is thinking of injecting the same comfort into an elk-hunting trip. He wonders if taking an easy chair along would be amiss. It would, as he pictures it, "sure be nice to come back to after a 15-mile hike through the mountains."

The beauty of fall evenings calls almost irresistibly to Walthill's Mrs. Helen Marr, when "a lopsided moon hangs in the sky these lovely autumn nights, meadows and hills lie still and silver-tainted in the clear night air, and stars seem big and pure in the surrounding blueness." It is with reluctance that she turns from it to indoor chores, the "picking up of the loose ends of the day and settling down to peace of house, peace of the world outdoors and peace with God in a fitting farewell to the day about to vanish forever."

The modern version of the "frost on the punkin," decides Frances Berns McNair in the Blue Hill Leader, is when it is already made up into a pie and is frosty because it is in the deep-freeze waiting to be baked. Will this work, she inquires of her women readers. Can you freeze a custard-like pie successfully?

Another pumpkin was in the state news—and for something of a record, since this is its tenth time around. The Humboldt Methodist Church had its annual Harvest Festival auction, and everything from watermelons to a lady's hat went over the block. The most familiar item, probably, was the petrified pumpkin that concluded the sale. For 10 years now the big mellow, yellow fellow has been sold and resold, bringing in over its decade of passing from hand to hand a total of $720 for the church.

Mrs. LeRoy Ahrndt from north of Scribner has been helping unload corn and in the last few loads at the top of the crib, ran into what she called "work." She prefers the wagon end of it. "Unloading corn," says she, "is just about the most thankless job on a farm. They claim it's easier than scooping—but I doubt it."

It's back to the wide open spaces again for "Bruin" after, lo, these many years of startling Nance County courthouse visitors with stuffed ferocity from his position on the stair landing there. Bagged in Wyoming by a group of local hunters sometime in the late 'nineties, the bear first took up his taxidermic snarling in the lobby of the Farmers State Bank in Fullerton. After closing of the bank, he was adopted by the county board for decorative purposes at the courhouse. Moths and time played havoc with "Bruin's" once shiny coat and he wound up ignominously stored in a barn. For a while he graced the scenery at Merrill Park, but was shuffled around until at last he was the bear nobody wanted, and was abandoned at a roadside. Oswald Reiche of Norfolk rescued him recently from his degradation and he will be a roadside attraction now on a highway near Norfolk. Here tourists may take pictures of themselves and "Bruin" to impress the home folks, and a measure of glory will be restored to a once proud monarch of the wild.

The Difference Is In The Fold Of A Shirt

When a son begins to complain about his father's taste in socks, it is the awkward age—for both of them.

The thing that makes it particularly awkward at our house is that I am still a bigger man than our son, Lee, except at the ground level. Considering that he is 15, this is only natural. It does not, however, protect my socks, neckties, handkerchiefs, belts, cuff buttons, tie clasps or dignity.

Were I a person who pays particular attention to the manner in which his wardrobe is draped across his frame, or even to what portion of his wardrobe is thus draped, there would be far less peril of social ostracism in the situation. As it is, however, Lee wears my socks with conscious intent, but I wear his shirts in absent-minded ignorance.

Trouble is, you cannot tell the difference between his shirts and mine when they are folded. Inevitably, every time the shirts come back from the laundry, two or three of Lee's find their way to my dresser, to be stacked in a drawer for use on whatever hurried occasion calls for a clean shirt.

The last time I wore one, it was really Mrs. F.'s fault for rushing me. She said I had played with McGuffey, the parakeet, too long, and we were late for dinner at the Thompsons'. "And be sure," she admonished, "to put on a white shirt."

I dressed in record time and we were at the Thompsons' with seconds to spare. True, it had seemed that it was necessary to stretch my neck unusually high, drawing it out even thinner than usual, in order to button my collar, but I laid this to the weather. Also, my shoulders did not seem quite free, during the drive over, and I couldn't get my neck back down where it belonged.

It was when Mr. Thompson, a gracious host, suggested that I remove my coat and be comfortable that I discovered the terble fact, however. I had on one of Lee's shirts. The truth was brought home when I saw my arm emerge from a coat sleeve, and noted that the cuff of the shirt rode just below my elbow. I plunged the arm back into the coat sleeve.

"I like coats," I lied miserably. "They're comfortable."

My Adam's apple seemed to have difficulty in moving. My host looked worried.

"What's the matter?" he said. "Got a stiff neck?"

I gulped I shouldn't have. There was a distinct popping sound, and a button caromed off my tie and struck me under the chin. I squirmed. I shouldn't have done that, either. Another sound, a ripping one this time, came from my back, under the coat.

"You don't look comfortable at all," Thompson protested. "You'd better shed that coat. After all, this is August." He advanced as if to take the garment. I retreated, gripping the lapels tightly. I swelled my chest to protest. There was a whole series of popping sounds, I looked down.

There wasn't a button left.

I surrendered. I said, "Look, pal, have you got an extra shirt?"

Fortunately, he is an understanding type. More fortunately yet, he did have an extra shirt.

ABSENT SECRETARY

Because I let the due day pass,
I lost the interest charge for gas.
Another blunder then I made:
The telephone bill twice I paid.
And what is worse (though I should not),
A lunch engagement I forgot.

Although it's shameful, I confess
That my affairs are "in a mess."
Not from corruption's evil sway
But from my bumbling, fumbling way.
I've left undone what should be done.
Mine is an office I can't run.

The fountain pen of ink is dry,
At filling one no skill have I.
The files are locked. I've lost the key.
I don't know where the stamps
can be.
My secretary is away.
"I'm in a mess," again I'll say.

Grand Island Bans Explosive Trucks

By The Associated Press

Trucks carrying explosives have been banned from the city limits of Grand Island and at least two other cities in Nebraska Thursday were considering similar action.

The Grand Island City Council passed the ban ordinance to become effective immediately. The explosive trucks now must find an alternate route around the city although no such route has been suggested.

Meanwhile, a resolution to prohibit trucks carrying explosives from entering North Platte was presented to the City Council there. The council voted to forward the resolution to Gov. Crosby, the State Engineer and to State Sen. Harry Pizer of North Platte but took no further action on it immediately.

Action Unlikely

At Ralston, the City Council is investigating the possibility of regulating the trucks but there appeared no chance for action on the matter. There is a state law which makes the regulation of trucks in second class cities a state matter.

The ordinance which was passed at Grand Island also included about the same ban for petroleum carriers. However, a group representing petroleum interests succeeded in getting the council to agree to further study of that phase. Councilmen said such an ordinance would be considered later.

The petroleum regulations would require through transports to by-pass the city. Those terminating their runs in Grand Island would be allowed to bring it to bulk plants and deliveries to stations could be made only between midnight and 7 a.m.

Omaha Police Probe Death Of Woman, 77

OMAHA (AP)—Police Thursday investigated the circumstances surrounding the death of a 77-year-old osteopath, whose attending physician said she appeared to have been beaten about the head.

The woman was Dr. Mabel Wesson who died in a hospital about three hours after her admission to the hospital.

Detective Inspector Harry Green said a post-mortem revealed death to have resulted from head injuries. He said the medical check also revealed bruises about the knees, face and throat.

Holding Nephew

Police held for investigation Charles Wesson, 25, a city fireman who said he is Dr. Wesson's nephew and adopted son. Green said Wesson will be given a lie detector test.

The officers said Wesson told them Dr. Wesson's death resulted from a fall and that she had fallen twice on Tuesday. Wesson was quoted as saying she had not been able to get around easily since breaking her hip in a fall on Easter.

Green said Wesson admitted "pushing her around" previously but denied doing so this week. Dr. Wesson's physician told officers he had treated her before and she said she had been beaten.

Police records showed that Dr. Wesson's physician had called them Oct. 18, asking that Charles Wesson be placed in an institution.

Omaha Boy Discovers Fossil Fish At Plattsmouth Quarry

OMAHA (AP)—David Brown, 15 of Omaha has caught a small fish eight inches long and weighing 25 pounds.

The catch is that he "caught" the fish with a hammer and chisel. It is about 250 million years old—give or take 50 million years.

The fish is a fossil embedded in a block of shale. It was found in a quarry seven miles south of Plattsmouth along the Missouri River.

David made the find while on a field trip with members of the Nebraska Mineral and Gem Society looking for iron pyrite crystals.

David is not a member of the society, but just for fun he tried splitting a block of shale which had been discarded by John Bufford, secretary of the society. He tapped the rock lightly and it split. Both sections showed the impression of the fish.

Hufford and David plan to go to Lincoln next week to present the fish to officials at the University of Nebraska Museum.

Governor Finds School For Blind Structures Poor

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb. (AP) — Gov. Robert Crosby inspected the State School for Blind here Thursday and said afterwards the buildings at the school are the poorest and most outmoded of any he has run across in his current tour of state institutions, now about two-thirds done.

Part of a building at the school has been in use since 1875.

Crosby said he was pleased with improvements made at the school in recent years as far as lighting and educational aid equipment are concerned and said the staff was doing as good a job as it could with the facilities available.

The governor complimented the school staff and Supt. Cecil Weddel, who took over this year. He spent considerable time interviewing pupils and said he believes the 41 pupils attending the school are receiving fine instruction.

Crosby flew to Nebraska City from North Platte, where he attended a public tax meeting Wednesday night. After lunching here with about 40 Otoe County Republican business men, he went to Peru to inspect Peru Teachers College, another state institution.

Buzbee Gets Stung

OMAHA (INS)—A bee flew in the window of Jackson Grade School in Omaha and stung one of the 445 pupils. The victim's name was Danny Buzbee.

Truckers Escape Injury In Crash

RISING CITY, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—Two truck drivers escaped injury west of here Thursday when their vehicles sideswiped on U.S. Highway 30A-92.

A grain truck, driven by Fred Kraye of Mullen, and a gasoline transport of the Herman Oil Co. of Fremont and driven by Francis Roseen of Council Bluffs, Ia., were involved in the crash.

The cab of the unloaded transport burned as a result of the accident. Members of the Rising City fire department extinguished the blaze.

Northern Gas Formula Test Criticized

Nebraska Localities Affected

WASHINGTON (AP) —Counsel for Central Electric and Gas Co, Lincoln, Neb, Thursday criticized Northern Natural Gas Co's method of selecting some of the 49 additional communities it proposes to serve.

The Omaha company has said that among these towns are 24 to which it did not apply a distributor's feasibility formula, such as was applied to the 25 others.

Don Sedgwick, Northern's director of marketing, testified at a Power Commission examiner's hearing that six of the 24 "arbitrarily" selected would not meet the formula test.

Sedgwick said one reason these 24 towns were selected was that Northern felt they had been led to believe they would receive natural gas in the near future.

Marti Testifies

Lloyd Marti, Central's attorney, obtained from Sedgwick an admission that five towns Central wants to serve would meet Northern's formula but were not included because Northern did not have sufficient gas to supply them as well as the 49 new towns These were Lennox and Centerville, S D, and Odell, Garrison and Beemer, Neb

Northern's proposal calls for distributing companies to pay a large share of the construction cost of the branch lines to connect additional towns to Northern's system.

Its formula called for inclusion of towns, other than the exempted 24, in which the distributor could amortize his construction cost within a decade by charging customers no more than 10 cents a thousand cubic feet above the price usually charged for such gas

Indian Chief Says Plans Falling Short

OMAHA (AP)—Omaha's plans to celebrate the Centennial observance of th first white settler's arrival here in 1854 falls way short of the possibilities in the opinion of Chief Spotted Back of the Omaha Indian tribe

Chief Spotted Back, whose anglicized name is Walter Hamilton, an Omaha interior decorator, told the Centennial committee Thursday his tribe is celebrating this year the 200th anniversary of its first visit to Omaha. That was the year a hunting party came down from the north and pitched camp here

"I think we ought to celebrate both events together," he told Centennial technical Director Alfred Stern. "Then we could have a 200th birthday party"

Boys Town Steers Sell For 2nd High

Last year's champion carlot, also exhibited by the Hoffmans sold at 50 cents a pound

The second highest price was for a carlot of medium weight Herefords owned by Boys Town, Neb. The Nebraska steers went for 41 cents

'Penalty Points Deterrent Despite Loophole'

The penalty point system law is a "great deterrent to continuous violations" despite a loophole that prevents revocation of drivers' licenses, Roy Blazek of the state Motor Vehicle Division said Thursday.

The loop hole is that one section of the law says that a driver accumulating 12 points under the law shall have his license suspended for a year while another section says that a driver suffering a license suspension can get it back by submitting proof of financial liability.

Blazek said this means that a driver might be able to get his license back in a short time after suffering suspension under the point law. Various numbers of points are marked against a driver for various offenses. Suspension comes when a driver gets 12 points in any two-year period.

Blazek commented that the law remains "worthwhile" and will have "good effects."

Before the Legislature adjourned an attorney general opinion pointed out the conflict in language but it was not corrected.

No licenses have yet been suspended because of the point law, but Blazek said there may be two or three suspensions next week.

A driver whose license is suspended will get a pink license slip instead of the usual yellow one when the suspension is lifted. This will serve to show officers quickly those who have suffered a suspension.

Besides his widow, Epsen is survived by a son, Edward Jr., of Omaha and two daughters, Mrs. Hamilton Fuller of Omaha and Mrs. Patrick Peartree of St. Louis.

School Aid Sought In New Taxes

"When Nebraska modernizes its tax structure by adopting a sales tax and possibly other types of taxes, at least half of the revenue should be used to support schools," Galen Saylor, president of the Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers, said Thursday.

Saylor

Reports from meetings with Gov. Robert Crosby on Wednesday and Thursday indicate that Nebraska is rapidly moving towards adoption of a sales tax and possibly other types of taxes, he said.

"But citizens interested in schools are greatly disturbed by the fact that statements attributed to the governor and several senators indicate that the principal purpose of such new forms of taxes is to replace the state levy," he said.

Replace State Taxes

If the purpose of new taxes is to ease the burden of real property, Saylor said, then at least half the revenue should be used to replace school taxes. State officials and legislators, he said, have pointed out that schools get half the revenue from the property tax.

"Relief for property owners can best be accomplished by using at least a major portion of the revenue from the sales tax to replace school taxes," Saylor said.

Local Control

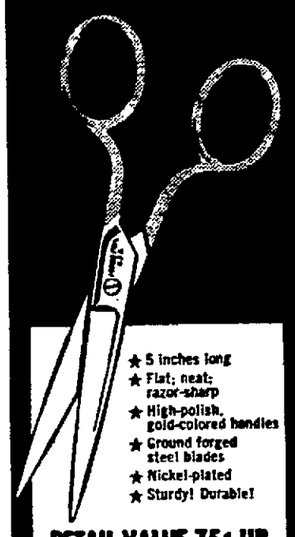

Nebraska citizens have been reluctant to adopt a sales tax since they felt it would be used to support new bureaus and new services at the state level, he said. If Nebraskans are asked to support a sales tax as a relief measure for property taxes, he said, they are right in demanding that at least a large portion be spent in local communities where its expenditure can be controlled and used to relieve taxes paid for local essential services.

"The Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers has long worked for a modern tax system in Nebraska," Saylor said, "but we will not support any move to broaden the tax base, unless the interests of our children are protected."

A measure calling for a state sales tax with all the revenue going to schools was proposed in 1946 under the sponsorship of school groups. It was defeated 212,000 to 142,000.

Supports Depend On Limiting All Crops

Farm Price Ruling Announced

WASHINGTON (AP)—A farmer will have to comply will all acreage allotments on basic crops next year in order to qualify for price support on any of them.

The Agriculture Department announced this "multiple compliance" regulation Thursday.

This is the first time such a broad rule has been laid down to require a farmer to comply with all acreage allotments established on his farm in order to be eligible for price support on any basic crop.

The basic crops, under farm law, are wheat, cotton, corn, tobacco, rice and peanuts.

Of these basics, all but rice face the prospect of acreage allotments next year.

Wheat growers already have voted in favor of marketing quotas and acreage allotments in order to qualify for continued high level price supports.

The department announced Oct. 8 that a wheat producer would have to comply with all other basic commodity acreage allotments on his farm, in addition to the wheat allotment itself, to be eligible for wheat price support in 1954. Today's action applies the same principle to all other basic commodities.

There is only one exception. This applies to a farmer who exceeds his wheat acreage allotment, but does not have more than 15 acres of wheat on his farm. He still will be eligible for price supports on other basic commodities provided he observes the acreage allotments for those on his farm. But he will not be eligible for wheat price supports.

Moon's Halo? 'Refraction'

To a Lincoln Star reader:

In answer to your query last night about the strange and ghostly circle around the moon, here's the explanation:

"The circle was caused only by light refraction — the light rays of the moon hitting the particles of moisture and snow crystals in the atmosphere."

And Dr. John C. Jensen, Nebraska Wesleyan University scientist and director of the school's seismograph, is the authority.

Sixty per cent of the Lincoln Red Cross-Community Chest fund campaign goal has been reached.

The fourth report brought in $44,503, hiking the total to $209,648. The goal is $482,266.

Thursday's report included (goals in paranthesis): advance gifts division, $25,134 ($161,698); employees division, $17,855 ($118,109); womans division, $1,514 ($10,841).

Scientists Deplore 'Growth Of Fear'

An organization of scientists which includes Nobel Prize winners Albert Einstein and Max Born stated Thursday they deplored the "serious growth of fear" which inhibits free expression among scientists.

A lengthy statement was made by the Society for Social Responsibility in Science, composed of workers in the natural sciences.

The resolution called on scientists everywhere "to strengthen the spirit of free inquiry by clear and courageous public expression."

"Fear of social disapproval can lead a society to direct its thoughts only into predetermined channels," the scientists said. "New truths will then escape us and they may be the vital truths for our time."

Herbert Jehle, associate professor of physics at the University of Nebraska, is one of the 18 signers of the statement.

Other signers include Priyadaranjan Ray, past president of the Chemical Society of India, and Shigeru Oae of Japan.

Phone Hike Okayed

The State Railway Commission reported approval Thursday of the Arlington Telephone Co.'s request for an increase of 50 cents a month in city residence and business telephone rates, effective when common battery type service is provided.

Increase In Supplies To Indochina Reds Reported

HONG KONG (INS)—Informed Hong Kong sources reported Thursday a sharp increase in military supplies from Red China to Communist rebels in Indochina.

They said about 3,000 tons of material are moving southward every month through the traditional Indochinese "invasion gateway" of Langson, in northern Tonking, and through Laokay, a frontier town on the Yunnan-IndoChina railroad.

The stepping-up of Red supplies was interpreted as a Communist reaction to additional U. S. financial and military aid to Indochina and to the new French policy of inviting Indochinese states to "buy" their independence by fighting for it against the Reds.

Qualified Western military and political observers in Hong Kong discount the possibility that Communist China will openly enter the coming "showdown" for control of the Red River ricebowl area between French union forces and Ho Chi-Minh's rebel Vietminh divisions.

Volunteer Aid

However, they do not dismiss the possibility that Red China will follow the example she set in Korea by raising "volunteer" divisions to aid the rebels.

One report from the Chinese mainland stated that Communist General Ho Lung is seeking to enlist 100,000 students in China's southwestern provinces to form an "Aid-Viet-Minh Youth Army."

Other reports told of Chinese troops from the North being moved through Canton and Kwangchowwan by rail toward the border.

Adding fuel to speculation about Chinese Communist intentions is the mystery surrounding the present whereabouts of Gen. Lin Piao.

Lin, until recently commander of the 4th Field Army, is regarded as second in rank only to national defense chief Chu Teh. He was credited with having masterminded the movement of Chinese Communist troops across the Yaulu to enter the Korean War.

Observers have noted that Lin has not figured in the news recently and are inclined to give credence to rumors that Red China's No. 2 military leader is now "somewhere in Indochina."

Ute Indians Go House Hunting In Denver

DENVER (AP)— A band of Ute Indians invaded Denver Thursday looking for ideas on how to spend several million dollars for new homes.

The Southern Utes have plans for a housing project of at least 100 homes. The money? Around $7,000,000 as their share of a recent award by a U. S. Court of Claims, plus something over $1,000 a year for each adult from oil and gas royalties. There are 541 in the tribe living on their reservation at Ignacio in southern Colorado.

"Oh, yes, we get a little from cattle and sheep, forest income and we do our own farming," said Edward Box, a memer of the tribal council.

The touring group of 45, ranging from babes to men and women of 50, began their Denver tour with a visit to a home carrying a $45,000 price tag.

And the women, many wearing their brilliant colored shawls, headed straight for the kitchen, just like any other women hunting houses.

Need 100 Homes

Mrs. Euterpe Taylor said, "We need around 100 new homes badly. We all need to learn to cook with electricity. Our children will have better homes than we had and we need ideas on modern design and modern conveniences."

She was one of the members of the Indian rehabilitation committee who worked out the plan for handling the tribes court of claims award. It was the first rehabilitation plan developed entirely by Indians. It is before Congress, with approval expected early next year.

There are many families with as many as seven members entitled to a share of the award from Uncle Sam, said Miss Agnes Donaldson of the Bureau of Indian Affairs in Ignacio.

"This means an income of well over $1,000 a year for the family in oil royalties alone. Then, each member of the tribe will get $1,000 outright from the claims award, plus another $3,000 each with some strings attached."

Procedure Told For Calling Extra Legislative Meet

Secretary of State Frank Marsh explained Thursday that the Legislature can be called into special session without a call of the governor if the members so desire.

Deputy Attorney General Clarence Meyer also pointed out that a constitutional amendment is not necessary if the people want a sales or income tax.

The two officials made it clear that if the people want a change and can decide on what they want there are no great difficulties to overcome.

Marsh said that 10 members of the Legislature can petition him to call a special session and then he will poll the other members. If 29 vote in favor, he notifies the governor who must call them into session within five days.

Meyer explained that the Constitution permits the raising of revenue "in such manner as the Legislature may direct."

Meyer explained the popular misconception that a constitutional amendment would be necessary before the Legislature could enact a sales or income tax was due to some wanting it written into the Constitution that the state get out and stay out of the property tax field if new taxes are added.

Look What We Found in the Old Family Album

Thumbing our way through our old family albums is one of our favorite pastimes—and this morning we found some choice pictures of people whose names—if not their faces—will be familiar to you—Of course we can't say that you WON'T recognize the young lady in the picture at the far left—We're just saying that the odds are against it—Maybe we should give you time to think it over—but since we can't we'll tell you that at the time the picture was taken our pretty little girl was Jean Holtz—She now is Mrs. Ben James—

Now this one may be a bit easier—but we doubt it She was a pretty cute little flower girl, wasn't she—and probably remembers perfectly every detail of her aunt's wedding She really hasn't changed too much—has grown taller, naturally, and has taken her place among the young matrons in the city—Don't recognize her? All right, we'll tell—She is now Mrs Jack Adrian Zimmer—the former Patricia Putney.

What's this' A birthday party with all of the small-fry done up in best bib and tuckers—

Had a struggle identifying all of the beaux and belles in this group, but finally one of our reliables came through with considerable assistance — She hasn't put herself down on the dotted line as being 100 per cent correct, but we rather suspect she is — Anyway—as she sees it—the youngsters in the group are (front row) Natalie Rehlaender Sally Caldwell and Helen Burnham In the second row we find the birthday party hostess Betty Lau (left), Gordon Payne, Ann Gooch, who seems to find it necessary to keep Mary Jane Fawell's chin up, and Janet Caldwell. In the back row, left to right, are George Yates, Mary Gavin, Barbara Burnham, and Frederick Payne.

Nothing could be more popular with members of the young

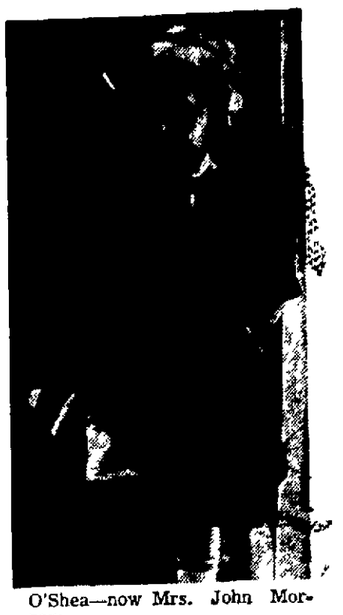

set than a birthday party—then—and now—But here we find one of the "then" celebrations that we are sure you will find as interesting as we do—It seems that Elizabeth Waugh (now Mrs John Brownlee) was five years old one day several years ago, and was hostess at a party—In the top row, left to right, are Charles Roberts, Dorothy Jane Bumstead, Eunice Harding, Martha Beghtol, Betty Romans, Priscilla Eiche and Janet Lau Kneeling, from left to right, we find Jack Rathbone, Ted Welton, Charles Bumstead—and seated — from left to right—Morton Decker, Janet Caldwell, Mary Helen Hustead, Bobby Waugh, Elizabeth Waugh and Betty Hays.

Looks as though flower girls were mighty popular not too many years ago—and perhaps you may speak the name of this young lady without a moment's hesitation—but we'll wager you won't Not that she has changed so much, because she hasn't—she still is small and slender—still blonde—and still bubbles with fun—Guess who? Betty

O'Shea—now Mrs. John Morrow

Will wonders never cease! Here we find a young lady listening to a program from Nebraska's first radio station—owned and operated at that time by The Lincoln Star—It looks a bit risky to us, standing on a chair and all wrapped up with wires—but Lee Browning seems to be happy enough, so why shouldn t we?

Town Talk

THERE has been lots of chatter around town that we've tried to tell you during the past few days — but somehow didn't — Such as, for instance, that Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hyland and their two children, Patty Sue and Johnny, will be home from the hills — and hunting — today Mr and Mrs Hyland and the small Hylands have been spending the past several days at Bassett where, in addition to some game shooting on the part of Mr. and Mrs Hyland, the family visited Mrs Hyland's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs Bernard Buell.

HAVE ALSO wanted to tell you that Lieut and Mrs Robert Barrett and their daughter, Nancy Joy, have been guests this week of Mrs Barrett's parents Mr and Mrs Herbert F. Herminghaus — The Barretts stopped off en route from Georgia, where Lieut. Barrett has been stationed, to his new assignment at Ft. Ord, Calif

UNDERSTAND that Mrs. C. E. Alter, who had been spending a week as the house guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr and Mrs E M Hunt, left Wednesday evening to return to her home in Denver.

"WHAT'S COOKIN' " seems to be the party theme for the Faculty Dancing club's first party of the season — a dinner dance on Saturday evening in the Student Union ballroom. The committee in charge of the party arrangements includes Mr. and Mrs. W C. Meierhenry, Mr. and Mrs G. W. Nibler, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Miller, Mr. and Mrs. C. R Porter, Mr and Mrs H P Doole and Mr. and Mrs Ray Matelski

Guest couples at the dinner dance will be Mr and Mrs. John Saha and Mr and Mrs Ralston Graham.

MUSIC circles will be interested in the news that Mr. and Mrs Kees Kooper (Mary Louise Boehm) have moved to Nashville, Tenn., where both are members of the faculty at the George Peabody university In addition to his duties as an instructor of violin at the university, Mr. Kooper also will serve as concertmaster for the Nashville Symphony orchestra Mrs. Kooper is a former member of the piano faculty at the University of Nebraska school of music.

HEAR THAT Mr. and Mrs Hugh Williams (Mary Jean Neely), of Omaha will be going to Kansas City this week-end where they will be the guests of Mr and Mrs. Dan Lilly (Mitzie Moyle).

New Safe ALL-IN-ONE Capsule Discovery for Easy Reducing!

$2.98 for 80 capsules

SCIENCE NOW HELPS YOU TAKE OFF YOUR FAT WHILE YOU EAT THE FOODS YOU CHOOSE

Do you like sweets, candy, cake and are you a real glutton when it comes to butter, gravy, potatoes? Have you tried one thing after another to reduce, spent dollar after dollar for pills and tablets and in spite of everything you've tried you're still too fat?

Well, be as skeptical as you like, but NOW, right NOW, there's a wonderful new kind of capsule that helps you take off pounds and inches of ugly fat safely, quickly and so much easier you hardly know what's happening.

You don't suffer starvation dieting hunger, you take no drugs, you don't exercise. In fact, you don't even diet one bit more than you want to, because you automatically eat less and here's why . . .

COUNTERACTS HUNGER

Just recently a well known scientist perfected a new tiny capsule that combines not one but ALL THE RECOGNIZED proven aids to reducing he found in all the advertised products offered today. It contains the concentrated proteins you've read and heard about. It combines the vitamins and minerals often lost when cutting off fattening foods containing these needed vitamins and minerals. It combines the vegetable cellulose that has no calories yet expands when it absorbs water thereby helping to give the feeling of a full contented stomach. Yet these tiny new capsules contain not just one but ALL the drugless reducing aids he found to be needed to actually automatically make you eat less without conscious effort and like it! In fact these tiny capsules are so packed with vitamins and minerals, protein and non-caloric filling food, they actually equal and exceed many a meal.

FAT GOES FAST!

You'll be surprised at the fat you lose the first week, the inches that disappear, the first month. No hunger, no strict dieting, no drugs, no exercise. And the cost is absolutely nothing unless you grow slim, more youthful-looking, more active and enjoy better health.

U.S. TO BUILD MAJOR ATOM POWER PLANT

CHICAGO (AP)— The United State Thursday told the world it will build a major atomic power plant—turning war's most destructive force to the constructive uses of peace:

The history-making announcement was made by Thomas E. Murray, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

It is this nation's first full-scale attempt to harness atomic energy for peaceful work.

Murray termed the move "America's answer to recent Soviet atomic weapons tests."

He also spoke of how the use of atomic energy in generating electric power will exert a powerful influence in the cold war and the competition for vital uranium.

Murray, in a speech on the Electric Companies Public Information Program, disclosed these details:

The AEC will build an industrial power reactor producing at least 60,000 kilowatts of electrical energy. That's enough for a city of 50,000 population.

Cost: "Many tens of millions of dollars."

Time: Hopes are geared to having an operating plant in three or four years.

Place: The project may be located "at or near" an AEC facility for separating uranium-235, the fissionable material in the A-bomb, from natural uranium. The AEC has one such facility at Oak Ridge, Tenn. It's building others at Paducah, Ky., and Portsmouth, O.

Rear Adm. Hyman George Rickover, the Navy's atomic reactor expert, has been given the "immediate responsibility" for the new program.

The Westinghouse Corp. will be the principal contractor

Murray told how the AEC decided to beat Russia to the punch with an industrial power program instead of concentrating almost exclusively on military programs. He said:

"This is America's answer—its significant peacetime answer—to recent Soviet atomic weapons tests. It should show the world that, even in this gravest phase of arming for defense, America's eyes still are on the peaceful future."

The atomic weapons program of the United States, he said, "depends upon the receipt of substantial quantities of uranium from foreign nations."

Murray added:

"These friendly nations, I think, are motivated mainly by two beliefs. They believe in the military protection afforded by our atomic weapons potential. They also are betting on our great record of success in solving industrial and technological problems.

"They are banking on the United States know-how and good faith to help them build their nuclear power plants of the future.

"I believe that unless we embark on an all-out attack on our nuclear power program immediately, we may be deprived of foreign uranium ores with the result that our weapons potential will be smaller than need be the case."

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP) — Next year's convention of the Disabled American Veterans of Nebraska will be held here May 15-16, according to John P. Hellberg Jr., commander of the local DAV chapter. This year's convention was held in Grand Island.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Penny: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.—Mrs. A. W.

A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily, and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only $1.85 plus tax at better stores.

WESTERN WINE & LIQUOR CO., OMAHA, NEBR.

Exclusive double-wrapped Aluminum Package keeps

GOOD LUCK fresher and better tasting than any other margarine!

Read the proof! In flavor tests, new Reynolds Wrap kept GOOD LUCK fresh as the day it was made—even after 8 weeks! Only GOOD LUCK has it!

NOW YOU CAN SERVE perfect table spread every time—fresh, sweet and delicious as the day it was packed! Just look for GOOD LUCK margarine in this revolutionary new Reynolds aluminum foil package.

GOOD LUCK is the only margarine—in fact, the only table spread—so completely protected.

Have you ever noticed an "off" taste in your margarine? Then you'll be interested in the tests we made to prove that this new package really protects the pure, delicate flavor of GOOD LUCK.

Fresh and Sweet After Eight Weeks

We put our new double foil-wrapped GOOD LUCK in a refrigerator along with other table spreads wrapped in ordinary waxed cartons. Next to them we placed sliced onions—and the strongest cheese we could find.

At the end of eight weeks, GOOD LUCK was still just as fresh and sweet as the day it was made! The new aluminum package had protected the flavor of GOOD LUCK completely against outside odors. But the other margarines in the usual waxed cartons had lost flavor and picked up odors very quickly, some after as little as six days.

WE TESTED GOOD LUCK in its new aluminum package by storing it in the refrigerator next to strong cheese and onions for 8 weeks. When the package was opened, GOOD LUCK's flavor, completely protected, was fresh and delicious as ever!

How Reynolds Aluminum Keeps GOOD LUCK Fresh

First, we wrap each quarter-pound print in pure Reynolds Wrap aluminum foil. Then we put the quarter pounds in a waxed carton for extra protection. And, finally, we seal the whole carton in shiny aluminum foil.

As a result, GOOD LUCK not only tastes delicious when we wrap it, but stays fresher and better tasting than any other margarine.

Although GOOD LUCK is the only margarine wrapped this way, it doesn't cost you one penny more than other quality margarines. And, you will be interested to know, many nutritional experts agree that GOOD LUCK is every bit as nourishing as "you-know-what."

GOOD LUCK's Challenge to You

We guarantee you'll like GOOD LUCK in its new aluminum package better than any other spread you've ever tasted—or we'll refund your money. If you don't agree, just drop a line to Lever Brothers, New York 22, N. Y., enclosing the guarantee panel from the GOOD LUCK package, and we'll send you every penny you paid.

Keep GOOD LUCK in Your Refrigerator —It Always Spreads Easily!

The delicate flavor of this fine quality margarine is perishable. That's why we carefully refrigerate GOOD LUCK during processing—also while awaiting shipment, and in transit.

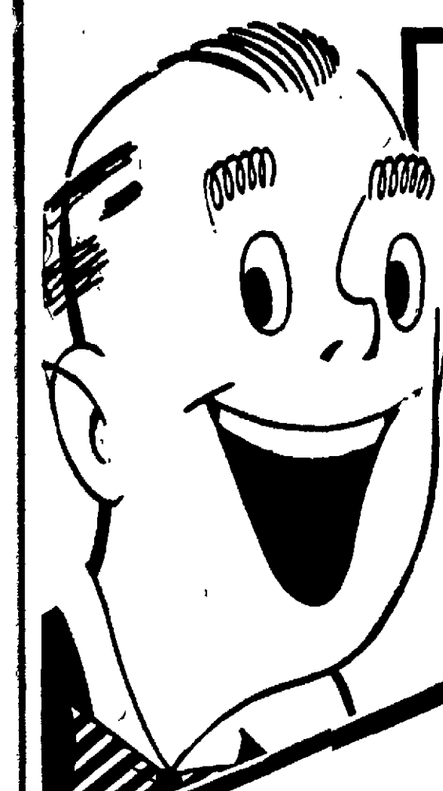

If you want to enjoy GOOD LUCK at its delicious best, always keep it in your refrigerator. You'll find GOOD LUCK spreads smoothly even when cold.

Incidentally, we managed to accomplish this easy spreading without sacrificing one tiny bit of GOOD LUCK's delicious flavor. Wonderful GOOD LUCK not only spreads easily, but stays fresher and better tasting than any other margarine!

You can't tell the difference between GOOD LUCK margarine and "you-know-what."

Nebraska Goes Over Top In Sale Of Savings Bonds

Sales of Series "E" and "H" Savings Bonds in Nebraska totaled $70,650,242.63 for the first nine months of 1953, Leland R. Hall, state director, announced.

"Nebraska has now reached 108.5 per cent of its 1953 quota," he said. "Fifty-eight counties have exceeded their quota and it is possible that every one will be over the top before the year ends although the drought will have some effect on bond sales."

Nationally, September, 1953, was the best September since World War II for bond sales, setting a record for any corresponding period in the last seven years. Total 1953 sales were $3,290,169,000, an increase of 23.7 per cent over the first nine months of 1952.

Lincoln Woman Gets 18 Months

A Lincoln woman, Maxine Harris, 23, was sentenced to 18 months in the State Reformatory for Women at York for grand larceny following revocation of her probation by the Lancaster District Court.

She admitted violating her probation given by the court on Feb. 4 and was sentenced on the larceny charge to which she pleaded guilty on Jan. 23.

The grand larceny charge involved a case in which the woman "found" two billfolds within a few hours.

"Two found billfolds are one too many," Wagener said at the time he filed the charge.

Irish Will Be Out To Protect Own Win Record

Wrecks' Streak Of 31 Threatening Record 39

By JERRY LISKA

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame, always football's hunted, becomes the hunter for a change against Georgia Tech's tight-rope walking Yellow Jackets here Saturday.

Bobby Dodd's southerners bring an unbeaten string of 31 games and if there is anything the Irish have been waiting to do, it's to smash a big, fat streak.

Notre Dame had its own best modern major record of 39 defeatless games snapped by Purdue early in 1950. This is a chance to make sure the Ramblin' Wreck doesn't become the team to break that 39-game record.

There is still more "pep" talk fodder for Coach Frank Leahy to feed his lads. Back in 1942, Georgia Tech was the first team ever to defeat a Leahy-coached Notre Dame team.

Leahy, fresh from Boston College in 1941, directed the Irish to nine victories and a tie with Army that year. Starting 1942, Wisconsin tied Notre Dame 7-7 and then on Oct. 3, Georgia Tech nipped the Irish 13-6.

Although Leahy opened the 1942 season with the miseries in his back, it took the Tech setback to send him to Mayo Clinic for three weeks.

Conversely, Georgia Tech won't need much of a sales talk to go steaming into the Irish. Notre Dame is top ranked in the National Associated Press poll. Georgia Tech holds fourth position.

An upset of the Irish, favored between 7 and 10 points, unquestionably would hoist Tech to the No. 1 spot in the poll, unless Michigan State or Maryland, Nos. 2 and 3, score stupendous routs Saturday.

Leahy's current Irish club thus far lacks the mark of greatness that has stamped some of his unbeaten juggernauts of other years. Like a rugged boxer without sharp skill, Notre Dame has kept banging away until something gave—and that has been Oklahoma, Purdue and Pittsburgh.

It's hard to see the other team disintegrate before the alert, constant-pressing Irish, but it does. With due respect to the crisply-operating backfield of Quarterback Ralph Guglielmi, Johnny Lattner, Joe Heap and Johnny Worden, it has been the "watch on the line" that has greatly aided the Irish.

Of 17 fumbles by three foes, the Irish recovered 11 with eight different players pouncing on the ball. Actually, 10 of Notre Dame's 12 touchdowns in three games have stemmed from the breaks the Irish made.

Although Tech — with Leon Hardeman and Billy Teas—has running finesse to match Lattner and Heap, this may resolve into a rocking defensive struggle.

The Yellow Jackets, bulwarked by two fine linemen in Center Larry Morris and Guard Franklin Brooks, has allowed no more than one touchdown through five unbeaten starts this year.

Notre Dame has yielded six touchdowns, an average of two per game, in its three games.

Peters, ACC Head Meet To Wind Up Orange Bowl Deal

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Reaves E. Peters, executive secretary of the Big Seven Conference flew to Miami, Fla., Thursday night to work out final details on an Orange Bowl pact between the Big Seven and the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The two conferences recently agreed to furnish football teams for a New Year's Day Orange Bowl game on a 2-year trial basis.

Peters indicated the session this weekend will clear the decks for the formal signing of an agreement. He will meet with Wallace Wade, Durham, N. C., the Atlantic Coast Commissioner and with the Orange Bowl management.

The actual signing, Peters said, will come later when faculty committees from the two conferences meet with Bowl authorities.

St. Bonaventure Wins Over Holy Name 27-6

Lincoln Star Special

COLUMBUS—St. Bonaventure of Columbus romped to a 27-6 win over Omaha Holy Name here Thursday night.

Kenneth Cielocha swept to three touchdowns for the winners. The other TD was added by Jim Hoshor on a 93-yard run. Hoshor also kicked three extra points.

It was the first loss by Holy Name. St. Bonaventure is undefeated.

Only Bobby Jones, Gene Sarazen and Ben Hogan have won the United States and British Golf Open Tournaments within the play of a single year.

Turpin, Olson Won't Fight Again In '53

Bobo, Gavilan May Mix In February

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Bobo Olson probably will defend his shiny new middleweight title against welter champ Kid Gavilan in February at San Francisco or New York.

Kid Gavilan

While the baldish champ flew home to the wife and four kiddies in San Francisco Thursday, Promoter Jim Norris started planning his future program.

"We'd like to have Olson fight Gavilan if the Kid gets past Johnny Bratton at Chicago, Nov. 13," said Norris. "Even if he should lose his title to Bratton, he might be the opponent.

"Flaherty (Sid Flaherty, Olson's manager) said Wednesday night he'd like very much to take on Gavilan. He wants us to promote it out in San Francisco.

"I, personally, would rather have it go to New York. There is no definite date. Bobo won't be ready to go until the first of the year."

Norris was pleased by the crowd of 18,869 that paid $167,651.06 to see the bout in person. Asked if he would consider blacking out future important fights on TV in the New York area, Norris said "We'll give it a lot of thought. We run into problems with the sponsors who claim 18 to 20 per cent of the sets in the nation are here in New York."

As for Britain's Randy Turpin, who was dropped twice by Olson while losing a unanimous decision last night in a 15-round match, Norris would like to have him back in February.

"I asked his manager if he would be interested in coming back to fight Paddy Young or somebody like that in February," said Norris. "They seemed interested. He's a useful fighter and made a good showing."

Jack Solomons, the British promoter, outlined his future plans for Randy Turpin who will leave for home on the Queen Mary Nov. 4 after a visit to his "training" camp at Grossinger, N. Y.

"He will fight no more this year," said Solomons. "I'd like to match Randy and Yolande Pompee in London next March. Pompee is fighting Ray Barnes of Detroit at Harringay Arena Nov. 3. Then I would like to put the Turpin-Pompee winner in with Olson June 1."

Flaherty, however, ruled out any rematch with Turpin before he boarded the plane for San Francisco, the adopted home of the Hawaiian-born Olson.

Dewey Fragetta, Olson's New York representative, said there was a possibility that the new champ might take an over-the-weight match with Tuzo Portuguez or Pierre Langlois before Gavilan.

The 160-pound class was buzzing with action with matches all over the map. Langlois, the Frenchman, meets Garth Panter of Salt Lake City in the Garden tonight while Ernie Durando, the Bayonne, N. J., slugger, takes on France's Charlts Humez at Paris.

Kitzelman May Miss Tiger Game

. . . Has Sprained Ankle

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

A new injury was revealed in the University of Nebraska football camp Thursday by Coach Bill Glassford.

Guard Max Kitzelman, 230-pound bulwark of the middle of the Husker line, has a sprained ankle and may not participate against Missouri at Columbia Saturday.

Kitzelman injured the ankle against Miami, but the sprain has been slowly responding to treatment. He has secretly been withheld from rough work all week in hopes the ankle improved.

Otherwise, the injury report showed improvement with Fullback Ray Novak and Center Bob Oberlin listed as probable starters at Columbia and Tackle Ted Connor still charted as doubtful.

If Connor and Kitzelman are both unavailable Saturday, the Huskers would dip in line strength.

Charley Bryant, Omaha South junior, would move into Kitzelman's guard spot with Bill Holloran, Schuyler sophomore, replacing Connor.

Glassford had planned shifting Kitzelman, a former tackle, into Connor's spot with Bryant filling in at guard.

That puts the tentative starting lineup, thus: Bill Shabacker and Andy Loehr, ends; either Connor, Holloran or Kitzelman at one tackle and Jerry Minnick at the other; Bryant or Kitzelman at one guard spot and Don Glantz at the other; Oberlin, center; John Bordogna, quarterback; Bob Smith and Dennis Korinek, halfbacks, and Ray Novak, fullback.

"We need to be at full strength, especially on defense," commented Glassford. "We will definitely be hurting without Connor and Kitzelman."

The Husker coach complimented the all-around play of Smith and Korinek during the week and also the running of Jon McWilliams, speedy sophomore halfback from Sidney.

The Huskers leave by chartered plane for Columbia at noon today. Arriving in Columbia at 2:30 p.m., they will practice during the afternoon.

The 33-man travel squad:

Ends—Andy Loehr, Turtle Creek, Pa.; Bill Schabacker, Minden; Jerry Yeager, Hastings; Jack Baley, Miles City, Mont.; Sylvester Harris, Kansas City, Mo.; Don Hewitt, Sioux Falls, S. D.

Tackles—Ted Connor, Hastings; Jerry Minnick, Cambridge; Jim "Pev" Evans, Rapid City, S. D.; Bill Holloran, Schuyler; Ken Kunes, Maywood, Ill.; Dick Moore, Mt. Vernon, Ia.

Guards—Don Glantz, Central City; Max Kitzelman, Omaha; Charles Bryant, Omaha; Jerry Korisko, Omaha; Jerry Paulson, Dell Rapids, S. D.; Bob Wagner, Lincoln.

Centers—Bob Oberlin, West Allis, Wis.; Jim Oliver, Shelton; Ted Britt, North Platte.

Quarterbacks — John Bordogna, Turtle Creek, Pa.; Dan Brown, Sioux Falls, S. D.

Halfbacks—Rex Fischer, Oakland; Dennis Korinek, Ulysses; Dirkes Rolston, Forsyth, Mont.; Bob Smith, Grand Island; Max Kennedy, Beatrice; Jon McWilliams, Sidney.

Fullbacks—Ray Novak, Omaha; Jim Yeisley, Coin, Ia.; Nick Adduci, Chicago; John Edwards, North Platte.

Lincoln Star Special

OMAHA, Creighton Stadium—Lincoln Cathedral's running attack, stalled in the last three games, appeared to have bogged down again for three quarters against St. Joseph High here Thursdy night but the Bluebirds finally smashed back for an 18-12 win.

Vince Aldrich's eleven went into the last quarter trailing 12-6. Quarterback Bill Frappia, behind a Bluebird line which started to roll after a slump, engineered the comeback.

Stan Peters, hard-running fullback, scored all three Bluebird touchdowns.

Peters got the 'Birds off to a good start when he picked up a Joehawk fumble deep in St. Joe territory and ran 15 yards to score.

Cathedral held a 6-0 lead as the quarter ended but a 45-yard run by Tom Wehner had put the Josies on the CHS 25. The Joehawks quickly moved to the five-yard line where Cathedral's Clem Carr stopped a pass attempt by Gene Goltl.

That was only a temporary reprieve as Carl Miller went five yards through the middle to score and tie the game shortly thereafter.

A Cathedral fumble set up St. Joe's go-ahead touchdown in the third period. LeRoy Pettramale ran eight yards to score after the fumble recovery.

Frappia, who was outstanding for the Bluebirds all night, finally got the team rolling and they marched 73 yards for the tying touchdown.

A Frappia-to-Fred Schneider pass helped keep the drive going and Peters capped it with a nine-yard scamper around right end early in the fourth quarter.

The Joehawks took over and marched to the CHS 37 where a line led by George Riggs, Gary Barrett and Mike Cowan held.

Clancy Woolman intercepted a desperation pass on the 13-yard line with six minutes to play and Cathedral started a successful 87-yard move.

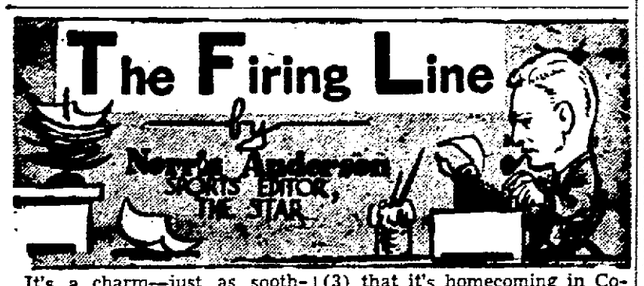

Peters went 14 yards around left end for the winning touchdown to write finis to a drive led by linemen Dean Witulski, Barrett, Don Penner and Allen Parks.

Connie Mack recalls the entire operating budget for the Athletics in 1901 amounted to just $26,000.

It's a charm—just as soothsayers have been discovering all season.

Pick the Huskers to lose and they'll win for you. Pick Bill Glassford's unpredictables to win and a loss is likely.

A week ago, we tabbed Miami as a seven-point winner. So what happens? The Huskers won by 20-16.

This week we're going one better. We're calling in Ray Baumgardner of International News Service as guest predictor. Says Ray:

"Missouri 31, Nebraska 21—Tigers have better offense."

Ray must have noted (1) Missouri's 14-7 win over highly-regarded Purdue, (2) that the Tigers are back in strength after a heavy siege of injuries, and (3) that it's homecoming in Columbia, a spot where the Huskers haven't won since 1937. Elsewhere:

BIG SEVEN

Kansas State 33, Wichita 7—A breather at last for the surprsing Wildcats.

Oklahoma 27, Colorado 7—Too much offense; too much defense. What else is there?

Southern Methodist 20, Kansas 6—Jayhawks are down; Mustangs are frisky.

BIG TEN

Illinois over Syracuse, Michigan State over Purdue, Ohio State over Wisconsin, Iowa over Indiana (really a tossup), Michigan over Minnesota, Pitt over Northwestern.

SOUTHWEST

Texas over Rice, Baylor over Texas Aggies, Houston over Temple, Montana over New Mexico, Wyoming over Utah.

SOUTH

Baltimore over Miami, Alabama over Miss State, Miss over Arkansas, Wake Forest over Richmond, Tennessee over Louisville, Tulane over Auburn, Georgia over North Carolina, Duke over North Carolina State, Florida over LSU (upset), Virginia over Vanderbilt.

EAST

Holy Cross over Brown, Army over Columbia, Navy over Penn, Harvard over Dartmouth, TCU over Penn State, Cornell over Princeton, Fordham over Rutgers.

SPECIAL PREDICTION

Says Charles Connelly, 2645 South 53rd: "Notre Dame 27, Georgia Tech 13. Too much Johnny Lattner. Neil Worden and all-around power. You can't beat the Irish and I'm prejudiced."

Links, Rockets Face Tough Foes; Romp Seen For Viewmen

Northeast and Lincoln High football teams are favored by narrow margins in their games tonight but College View rates a wider edge over its opponent.

Northeast plays Fairbury at Magee Stadium at 7:30 p.m. in the last Mid-East Conference game of the season for the Rockets. Fairbury tied Fremont, a team which gave Northeast a rough go. The Jeffs, however, barely squeaked by Beatrice and Northeast beat Beatrice 34-7.

If the up-and-down Jeffs are on the upswing tonight Northeast could be on the short end of it.

The Links, who last week rebounded from a 14-6 loss to Scottsbluff, will meet a much-improved Omaha South team at Omaha Municipal Stadium tonight. Kick-off is at 8 p.m.

South beat Northeast 12-7 last week and would seem to be an easy mark for the Links. However, bad breaks hurt the Packers earlier in the season and they are just now developing into the team they figured to be.

The Links rate a slight edge but will have their work cut out for them.

College View meets Wilber, a traditional foe, at CV Field. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Should the Viewmen get a previously inconsistent offense into high gear, Wilber will fade fast.

Even if the offense fails, CV's tight defense should hold the Wolverines in check.

The possible return of two injured Viewmen brightens the picture. Paul Westbrook and Bill Thierstein, out with leg injuries, will be available but will see only limited duty if any at all. Also back will be End Dick Walker.

Overhauling the NEWS

By WALLY DeBROWN

Seems like the favorite national sport in autmn is trying to pick the winners in the various weekend football tussles. All you need is a loud voice and an opinion. The opinion can be wrong or right, but it's all yours, and, like the sports writers and other "experts," you can always qualify your picks with an "if." Like a man near a fire escape, this gives you an out.

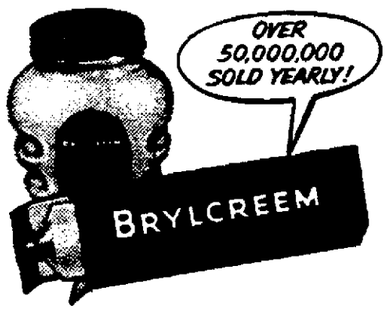

It's always wise to be careful in tabbing a winner. Almost anything can happen in a football game . . . and usually does. Just because a team has won every game up to now doesn't mean that some fourth-rate club won't get hot and tie it in knots next week. So if you want to be hailed as an "expert," always be sure to add one little word to your selection . . . "if."

A laundry in Atlanta returns men's shirts with a printed pink band that asks, "Have you kissed your wife this morning?" If you get into that habit, she might even launder your shirts at home. Little things can produce big results . . . The wheels on your car only need to be a little bit out of balance, and big troubles can result for your tires. Be sure of correct wheel alignment and balance. Bring your car in for a precision check today at DE BROWN AUTO SALES COMPANY, 1717 "O" Street, phone 2-6863.—Adv.

Three Husker Gridders Big Seven Standouts

KANSAS CITY (AP)—An Oklahoma guard-tackle combination that blocks for keeps has the early jump on the field for all america honors in 1953 from the Big Seven conference area.

A fourteen-man nominating board of sportswriters and sportscasters who cover the teams in the six-state area every week, go strongest for Oklahoma players J. D. Roberts, 210 pound senior guard from Dallas, and Roger Nelson, 225 pound senior tackle from Wynnewood, Okla.

Pence, a 200 pound senior end from Manhattan, Kan., has been the key man on blocks that opened the immediate path for zer and Corky Taylor, a junior long touchdown gallops by Swit-Ed proved his versatility by speedster from Kansas City. And kicking a 47-yard field goal in the Colorado game.

Here are some of the other stars who have drawn the plaudits of the board for their early season play:

Nebraskans considered are End Andy Loehr, Tackle Jerry Minnick and Back John Bordogna.

Returning Concordia alumni are expected to see a lot of these two Bulldog backmen in Concordia's homecoming game with Westmar Saturday. Vic Peter (left), Sylvan Grove, Kan., and Gary Seevers, Sidney, have accounted for 672 of the 833 yards rushing the Bulldogs have run up this year. Peter leads the Teachers in rushing averages with a 5.7 mark and Seevers is top scorer with 19 points.

Sidelight To Wesleyan-Kearney Tilt

Old Friends Lead Teams In NCC Battle

SCHEDULE

Friday

Chadron at Wayne.
Fairbury at McCook.
York at Kansas Tech.
Scottsbluff at Norfolk.
Waldorf at Luther.

Saturday

Kearney at Wesleyan.
Hastings at Midland.
Peru at Doane.
Omaha at Knox.
Westmar at Concordia.

Two old coaching cronies will collide when Wesleyan and Kearney Teachers play Saturday night at O.N. Magee Stadium.

This contest will pit Coach Roy B. Robertson of the Plainsmen and Coach Marvin (Preacher) Franklin of Kearney State—close friends and coaching buddies of long standing—together on opposite sides of the fence.

The Franklin-Robertson friendship began when the "Preacher" was a University of Nebraska assistant under Bill Glassford. The friendship jelled during the 1952 football season when Franklin became a part-time football assistant at the Methodist school.

Franklin moved into the Kearney head coaching job this fall and immediately came up with what sports fans refer to as a "barn burner."

He ambitiously encountered McPherson (Kan.) College in the opening game and received a lecture in offense and defense from one of the nation's finest small college clubs.

Then the "Preacher" turned on the steam and his club romped over Midland, Hastings and Chadron in a row before bowing in an upset to Wayne State last week, 0 to 7.

Of particular interest in this contest is the fact that Franklin borrowed the wide-open Robertson system of offensive football when he moved to Kearney, and is operating under that same system this fall.

Incidentally, the "Preacher" moniker is no joke—no product of some sports writer's virile imagination. Franklin is an ordained Methodist minister and the son of a bishop in the Methodist Church.

In other games Peru will be seeking its 20th straight victory and seventh win of the season against Fran Nagle's often tied Doane team. It will be homecoming at Crete. Midland will be trying for its second conference victory of the season against Hastings.

In the Nebraska Church Conference, Concordia will celebrate homecoming by entertaining Westmar.

Clemson Falls To State Rival

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—The University of South Carolina, bolstered by lightning-like passes and opposition fumbles, rolled to a 14-7 State Fair football triumph over Clemson College here Thursday.

A holiday crowd of 35,000 witnessed the Atlantic Coast Conference game, the 51st meeting of the two schools.

South Carolina struck swiftly in the second quarter after Clemson had lost the ball twice on fumbles deep in South Carolina territory. Quarterback Johnny Gramling passed 45 yards to End Clyde Bennett, who stepped over the goal line to score.

Sub Quarterback Harold Lewis passed 21 yards to sub End Joe Silas, all by himself in the end zone, to give South Carolina a third-period score on the end of a 90-yard drive. Placement Specialist Jim Jarrett converted after both touchdowns.

A clipping penalty against South Carolina coupled with a short punt from behind its own goal combined to set up Clemson's touchdown late in the final period. After punching out short gains from South Carolina's 28, Clemson Sub Quarterback Tom Williams passed 13 yards to End Scott Jackson at the goal line. Sub Quarterback Pooley Hubert came in to convert from placement.

Class D Six-Man Leader

The undefeated Elmwood Pirates, if they can get by their next two games against Gretna and Eagle, will be in line for a bid to the Apple Bowl game in Nebraska City. The Pirates have won six this season. Team members are (back row, left to right) Dick Woods, Orville Bogenreif, Merle Backemeyer, Keith Drake and Buddy Ahrens, and (front row) Coach Bill Mickelson, Virgil Goracke, Dale Lannin and Dick Apt.

Langlois Begins New Push To Unseat Champ Bobo By Facing Garth Panter

NEW YORK (AP)—Pierre Langlois, a hustling Frenchman eager to get a crack at middleweight champ Bobo Olson, begins a new title chasing campaign in the U. S. tonight when he faces strong-jawed Garth Panter of Salt Lake City at Madison Square Garden.

The 27-year-old Frenchman, ranked tenth among the 160-pounders, is a 17 to 10 favorite to get his latest push off to a victorious start. Starting time for the ten rounder is 9 p.m. CST. The scrap will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC) coast to coast.

Following up on the highly successful Olson-Randy Turpin promotion Wednesday night, the show isn't expected to draw more than 5,000 fans or so even though interest in the middleweight division is booming.

Langlois is an aggressive fighter with a busy style and a light punch. Like Olson, the new champ, Pierre keeps wading in. He specializes in the same sort of cuffing attack, counting on his accumulation of blows to pile up points.

The fight will be scored on a round basis. A supplementary point system also is employed to help break draws.

HCC Elects Three Board Members

Three new members of the board of directors were elected at the Hillcrest Country Club's annual meeting and stag Wednesday.

New board members are Rollie Koser, Freeman Everett and Art Reed. They replace Hal J. Bowers, Cecil Gates and Dr. Fred Davie. Carry-over members are Howard Burnett, club president, Bert Ehrmann, Paul White, Fred Warner, Adam Brehm, Ken Kimmel and Gene Chadwell.

Ralph (Whitie) Reed had low gross in the golf for the day with a 77. High winds and cold raised scores. Other event winners were:

Low net—Hal Thorson, 67.
Second low net—Howard Linch, 70.
Third low net—Bill Bryant, 71.
Fourth low net—Adam Brehm and Ted Franks, 72.
Worst start—Clarence Meyer, 9.
Most inconsistent nines—Bert Ehrmann, 55-45.
Most consistent nines—D. J. Horn, 47s, E. R. Jorgenson, 49s, Dr. Fred Davie, 51s, Gene Chadwell, 39s.
Worst first nine—O. D. Johnson, 57.

New West Berlin Mayor Pledges Red Fight

BERLIN (AP)—Control of West Berlin's government shifted from the Socialists to the Conservatives Thursday, but all factions pledged unity on one issue — a common front against Communism.

The city parliament elected Dr. Walther Schreiber, 69, a Christian Democrat, as lord mayor to succeed Socialist Ernst Reuter, who died of a heart attack Sept. 29. He will serve until the next municipal election in December, 1954.

Schreiber got the 62 votes of the Christian Democrats and the free democrats, against 57 Socialist votes cast for Dr. Otto Suhr.

Thus the Socialists, the leading party in Berlin since the war, found themselves in the minority at City Hall. The new mayor, who served as deputy to Reuter two years and as acting mayor since Reuter's death, immediately promised to work for a coalition of all three parties in the anti-Communist tradition that Reuter established.

No Change

Spokesmen for the two conservative wings said there would be no change in the city's long-established policy of resisting Soviet encirclement. A shakeup of the cabinet on other matters such as patronage, however, is inevitable.

Reuter's old cabinet, called the "Senat," consisted of six Socialists, four Christian Democrats, four free Democrats and one independent.

Other changes forecast by informed City Hall circles may include amendments to the social security laws and school subsidies. Conservatives have long complained against the compulsory state insurance system and what they called discrimination against secular schools.

Allied authorities hailed Schreiber's election with satisfaction. They have worked more than two years as closely with Schreiber as with Reuter.

Service For The Winner

New Plan Offered For U.S. 30 Route

With Kearney residents unable to agree locally on the proposed improvement of U.S. 30 in the vicinity of the Teachers College campus, Ray Lundy, new city manager, conferred with State Engineer L. N. Ress Thursday on another proposal.

The city has to provide the necessary right-of-way and seek to reduce local costs by using the southeast corner of the campus. The Normal Board has opposed past plans as handicapping operations of the college.

The new plans would take less of the campus than originally asked and Ress said he would submit them to the Normal Board at its November meeting.

Further Hearings On Zoning Change Not Barred—Jeary

While Mayor Clark Jeary has expressed hope of passing the proposed new city zoning ordinance on third reading Monday, further hearings on the document will not be barred.

If any one wishes to appear on the ordinance Monday, said Jeary, the Council will hear them. Persons who desire to know anything about the ordinance and how it effects their property, said the mayor, should contact Paul Watt, the city's planning engineer.

Consolidated Defense-Foreign Aid Budget Studied

'Voting Year' Resistance Cited

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration was reported Thursday seriously considering a single budget request to Congress next January covering both U.S. defense needs and foreign military aid.

The main objective of a consolidated home-and-abroad defense budget, officials said, would be to overcome congressional resistance to a separate military aid bill in an election year.

A second and longer-range goal, these officials said, would be to establish the overlapping and interlocking connection between strictly U.S. defense needs and the defense of the whole free world, particularly Western Europe.

One high official said the decision to wrap up military aid in the regular defense money bill had all but been made. Another said such a move is still being discussed by cabinet members and others.

New System

The two officials, interviewed separately, declined use of their names.

The United States today is spending at a monthly rate of 300 to 350 million dollars for military goods, most of which are made in this country and shipped abroad. The balance, manufactured in friendly foreign nations, is called the off-shore procurement program and consists of military items made with U. S. dollars in North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and other friendly nations.

An important part of the proposed new plan, it was reported, might involve a new system which would permit the transfer of military aid dollars directly into treasuries of NATO countries to be exchanged for local currencies, such as French francs. The Francs would be used for specific purposes, such as maintenance of troops. The dollars would be used to finance imports from the United States.

The Eisenhower administration reportedly is convinced of two things: First, that a separate aid bill next year, even though most of it is military, would not find Congress receptive; and second, that from two to four billion dollars in military aid next year is essential to long-range U. S. defense planning

Bus Situation Appears Okay

Lincoln appears to be without any bus problems for the present time, according to officials of National City Lines of Chicago, parent company of Lincoln City Lines.

The officials stressed four points which have been problems in the past. They are:

1. The sale of Lincoln City Lines is not being considered at this time.

2. No increases in fares is being considered now.

3. While some minor changes may be made after certain studies are completed, there are no plans for drastic changes or cuts in service.

4. Every effort will be made to improve service on lines where patronage justifies it.

Officials attending the conference with Welfare and Safety Director Ray Osborn were R. E. James, operations manager; C. E. Morgan, transportation engineer, and D. S. Peck of Salt Lake City who succeeded D. W. Barratt as regional manager.

"You people," said James, "need have no fear of losing your privately owned operation. One reason for this is the fine co-operation rendered by Mr. Osborn and your bus committee."

Morgan has been in Lincoln the past six weeks gathering statistics on the operation here. All these findings, said the officials, will be thoroughly reviewed before any changes in service are recommended.

According to Osborn, all proposed changes will be submitted to the city's bus committee before being placed into effect.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at are upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

ONE MAN'S OPINION By Walter Kiernan

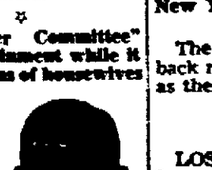

(Distributed by International News Service)

Daytime television may get an old sustainer back.. Sen. Kefauver is reported ready to start another parade of horse race figures past the camera.

The "Kefauver Committee" was great entertainment while it lasted and millions of housewives left the dishes in the sink to watch virtue trample vice.

Kiernan

Unfortunately, except for a nice rating in the television polls the hearings didn't seem to accomplish anything except build a future audience for "Dragnet."

Estes went on to aspire for the presidency, Bailey became a Manhattan political sage, Sen. Tobey passed on and only Frank Costello could claim an interruption in his activities.

And as of this date, the only thing most people can remember about Costello is that his was the first pair of hands to get a TV booking.

The "Kefauver Committee" took to the road like a Ted Mack unit and lost its audience somewhere between Washington and Kansas City.. never did as well as in season of summer stock in New York.

The only way it could come back now would be on kinescope as the "Late, Late, Late Show."

QUIRKS

LOS ANGELES (INS)—The Legal Aid Foundation of Los Angeles reported that a survey disclosed that the majority of persons with legal problems turns to bartenders for advice, notary publics next and lawyers the last of all.

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)— An unexpected visitor dropped in on the American Gold Star Mothers' meeting in the ballroom of Downey Veterans' Hospital.

He was Curtis Humphrey, a carpenter who was repairing the flooring in the attic.

The flooring gave way and Humphrey plunged to the first floor ballroom. He struck four women who were injured, none seriously.

Humphrey, cut and bruised, got up and walked away.

Rally Lifts Wheat; Other Grains Low

CHICAGO (AP) — A late rally lifted wheat into higher ground on the Board of Trade Thursday while the rest of the market remained bogged down in losing territory.

Buying in wheat at the close reflected reports of improved flour business and steady prices for cash wheat. Other grains lacked such stimulants.

Wheat closed unchanged to ⅛ higher, corn ⅝-1⅛ lower, oats unchanged to ⅝ lower, rye ½-⅝ lower, soybeans ⅛-1⅜ lower and lard 7 to 95 cents a hundred pounds higher.

The big gain in lard was in the November contract. Much of it was short covering, brought on by the spectacular manner in which the October contract closed out Wednesday. It jumped $1.65.

Fairly heavy receipts of cash corn totaling 314 cars acted as a drag on that grain. Prices in the cash market were unchanged to ½ cent lower. The Agriculture Department came out with a rather pessimistic summary on corn, estimating the carryover next Oct. 1 at 925 million bushels, which would be the largest on record.

Oats moved lower with corn despite an Agriculture Department conclusion that "the carryover of oats at the end of the current marketing year is expected to be considerably smaller than the 256 million bushels carried over last July 1."

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP) — Late afternoon demand for railroads and utilities turned the bond market upward Thursday.

U. S. government bonds were steady to a quarter of a point higher. The 30-year 3¼s climbed 6-32 at 103 24-32 bid, a new high.

Victory 2½s and bank-eligible 2¼s rose 4-32 at 95 10-32 bid. The 2¼s of 1958 regained 100 bid with a 2-32 increase.

Italian liens were firm in a quiet foreign section.

Changes in the corporate list were generally minor fractions until shortly before the close. Then, a flurry of buying orders for high grade issues firmed the market. Most industrials were steady as investors sought carriers and utilities. A few convertible issues were also strong. Volume climbed to $2,900,000 par value from $2,555,000 Wednesday.

Up from one to two points included Northern Pacific 3s at 72, Louisville & Nashville 2⅞s at 82, and Michigan Consolidated Gas 3⅝s at 100⅛.

Stock Market Up; Moderate Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—Strength in a wide group of individual issues was sufficient Thursday to pull the stock market ahead.

The advance was moderate and devoid of group features.

Volume was about the same as Wednesday—1,330,000 shares as compared with 1,320,000 shares.

Among higher stocks were Goodrich, Du Pont, General Motors, Chrysler, Union Carbide, and Texas Co.

Among losers were U S Steel, Radio Corp., American Woolen, Santa Fe, and Northern Pacific.

The American Stock Exchange was mixed with trading at 340,000 shares as compared with 350,000 shares Wednesday.

Dr. Lipmann Of Harvard Shares Nobel Prize For Medicine With Dr. Krebs

By GUSTAV SVENSSON

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Two German-born biochemists, one an American and the other a Briton, were awarded the 1953 Nobel Prize for medicine and physiology jointly Thursday for their discoveries concerning the basic life processes carried on within human cells.

Dr. Fritz Albert Lipmann, 54, professor of biochemistry at the Harvard Medical School, Cambridge, Mass., and Dr Hans Adolph Krebs, 54, professor of biochemistry at Sheffield University, Sheffield, England, share the honors and a prize of 175,292 Swedish crowns ($33,840).

Dr. Lipmann has devoted much of his career to studying the mechanisms of biosynthesis — how the body builds and renews itself out of the basic factors in food From this came his discovery of co-enzyme A, an organic substance that plays an important part in nearly every biological process.

44th Award

Dr. Krebs was cited for his explanation—variously called the Krebs Cycle, the Citric Acid Cycle and the Wheel of Fortune —of how food becomes energy in living tissue This explanation provides a general background for the study of many problems of metabolic diseases.

The award was the 44th made by Stockholm' Caroline Institute of Medicine under the will of Alfred Nobel, the inventor of dynamite. The winner last year was Dr. Selman A. Waksman of Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J., discoverer of the earth mold from which came the wonder drug streptomycin.

Dr. Goran Liljestrand, secretary of the Medical Committee, described the closely related achievements of Dr. Lipmann and Dr. Krebs as being "of the utmost theoretical significance and very likely to have great practical importance in understanding diseases and similar disturbances."

Both studied in Germany under Otto Meyerhof and Otto Warburg, who won Nobel awards in 1922 and 1931, respectively, for similar research.

Sweden's King Gustav is to hand the prizes to the two biochemists and winners in other fields at a traditional ceremony in Stockholm in December.

Prime Minister Churchill won the Nobel Prize for literature a week ago for his writing and oratory. Similar annual awards for outstanding work in physics, chemistry and toward world peace are still to be announced.

Dr. Lipmann has been on the research staff of Harvard since 1944. He also heads the biochemical research laboratory of the Massachusetts General Hospital. Born in Koenigsburg, he studied at the University of Berlin. He went to the United States in 1931 on a Rockefeller Foundation scholarship.

Dr. Lipmann is married and has an 8-year-old son, Stephen Hall Lipmann. His wife is the former Freda M. Hall of Defiance, O.
